Peach Twigs and Scientific Planning

THE peach twig dips downward, so many believe, when held over underground water supplies. So firm is the faith of some people in its supposed infallibility that they never undertake the labor and expense of digging a well without making a test for hidden water with this natural divining rod.

In preparing for the growth of telephone facilities to meet future demands, there is no peach-twig substitute for foresight. All expenditures of labor and money must be based on scientific planning. Careful studies must be made of present and future conditions in the locality to be served. Probable population and the volume and nature of telephone traffic must be estimated years ahead. Plant must be made capable of expansion. Capital must be arranged for in advance if growth is not to be delayed.

One of the vital phases of the Bell System's task of providing America with a nation-wide, universal service is that of foreseeing and providing for the future needs of the nation.

AUTO STOLEN, WRECKED AND IS RETURNED

C. S. Johnson, 615 West Second street, parked his automobile in front of his home last night. At 10 p. m., he went out to get the car and discovered that it had been stolen.

He reported his loss to the police. A search for the car was made throughout the night without success, but when Johnson walked from his home, at 7 o'clock this morning, he found the car parked right where he last had seen it.

A smile which broke over his face at finding the car so soon, quickly changed to a frown, when he found that the car had been badly damaged. The radiator had been smashed and the machine otherwise damaged.

Thieves took the car, wrecked it and then returned it to the spot where they first found it. The radiator still was warm when Johnson found the car this morning, indicating that the machine had been returned just a short time prior to Johnson's finding it.

SINCLAIR APPEAL DISMISSAL ASKED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Dismissal of the special appeal granted Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, in the U. S. senate contempt case, was asked by government counsel in the District of Columbia court of appeals yesterday. The request was taken under advisement.

Sinclair was indicted for refusal to answer questions in the senate oil investigation of 1923-24.

Sinclair filed a demurrer, which was overruled on six counts and sustained on four counts.

Sinclair then applied for the special appeal, which was granted Sept. 2, 1924. It is dismissal of the appeal which was asked today by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, and Peyton Gordon, U. S. district attorney.

Padre Predicts Stormy Weather

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 2.—Father Jerome Ricard, "padre of the rains," at Santa Clara university, foresees approximately 12 "generally fair" days out of the 30 of this month for the Pacific slope, according to his "sun spot" forecast.

November will see several recurrences of a malignant sun spot, visiting rainstorms of varying intensity upon various parts of the coast, according to Father Ricard.

Beginning about November 11, British Columbia, Vancouver island and the northwest states will experience a series of moderate to heavy storms, the "sun spot" forecast holds. These disturbances with momentary periods of relief, will continue until near the end of the month. Influence of part of these storms will be felt as far south as San Francisco and in a few instances Southern California.

Father Ricard lists the "generally fair" days as November 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 10, 12, 13, 20, 24, 28 and 30.

Charges Against Keyes Dismissed

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Charges of technical embezzlement, preferred against District Attorney Asa Keyes by the Los Angeles board of supervisors were dismissed here yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Ballard, upon recommendation of Attorney General U. S. Webb.

Webb stated that, in his investigation of the case, he had found no grounds to warrant prosecution.

The charges against Keyes followed indictment of five members of the board of supervisors on charges of felony.

PARENT TEACHERS

Orange county P. T. A. chairman of patriotism and Americanization met in Ketter's gold room late last week for a most interesting session when they discussed matters in their departments over an appetizing luncheon menu.

Matters of community betterment attained through the work of the chairman present and their sections of the association, offered fruitful discussions which occupied the afternoon hours. Discussions were conducted by Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, state chairman of American citizenship and patriotism.

Those present included Mrs. C. M. Best of Lowell school Mrs. H. A. Gerrard, Julia Lathrop; Mrs. J. H. Bray, Jefferson; Mrs. J. H. Bowers, Lincoln; Mrs. G. H. Christian, Spurgeon; Mrs. R. B. GOODWIN NOW FACES DOUBLE PERIL OF HANGMAN'S NOOSE AND CHARGE OF PLAGIARISM

Philip A. Goodwin, actor-priest, today faced two perils. One was the threat of the hangman's noose, resting upon the word that will come from a jury sometime this week. The other, which is causing Goodwin far less worry, he admits, was the prospect of a prosecution for alleged plagiarism.

The man who is now being tried for the murder of Joseph J. Patterson, Los Angeles bond broker, will, if acquitted, be rearrested in connection with the presentation of a play, alleged to be a plagiarized version of "Getting Gertie's Garter." It is claimed that this is a criminal offense.

It is said that a Los Angeles warrant is awaiting the priest, charging him with failure to pay royalties to the Century Play company for his alleged use of the play, which was said to have been presented in various Southern California cities under direction of Goodwin, who used the name G. Allison Phillips, instead of Philip Allison Goodwin.

Goodwin, it is said, is prepared to offer the defense that he took over direction of the theatrical company when the regular manager became ill and that he continued to produce plays in the regular repertoire, which included the alleged plagiarism. He will claim, it is said, that he had no knowledge that the play was a plagiarism, or that royalty payments had not been made.

Not interested now. But just now, Goodwin, it is admitted, is little interested in who acquired possession of a certain intimate accessory and whether it was obtained fairly or by fraud. The little priest has his back against the wall in the Patterson murder case and is ready, when court resumes tomorrow, to make his final plea to the jury for his life and liberty.

Whether this will be made by the priest in person, or through his counsel, Kilt Gould, in the usual way, became a matter of speculation at the time drew near, when there was a rumor in court that Goodwin would ask leave from the court to deliver his own plea to the jury. The defense argument is scheduled to start immediately when court opens tomorrow, Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley having delivered the prosecution's opening argument yesterday afternoon.

The defense is conceded to be in a ticklish place just now. Mozley, who used the entire afternoon session with his address to the jury, turned a withering fire of denunciation upon Goodwin. He branded the priest as a falsifier, though complimenting him with damning praise as the most shrewd, clear-minded and memorized witness that the prosecutor ever had seen on the stand. The praise was coupled with the charge, by Mozley, that Goodwin had "framed" his defense and fabricated the story in which Goodwin denied that he was guilty of the Patterson murder.

Dwells on Gaines' Story. Mozley commented upon the finding of Patterson's body amid the brush in Santa Ana canyon, following a trip alleged to have been taken from Los Angeles to San Diego by Goodwin, Patterson and Albert Dewey Gaines, Goodwin's co-defendant. He mentioned Goodwin's denial that Patterson had been with him on the trip, and that Goodwin had passed through the canyon. He also dwelt upon the story of Gaines, who said that the three men had been together and that Goodwin had slain Patterson in the canyon, while Gaines waited in their automobile some distance away, unaware of what was happening.

"I'm holding no brief for the state's chief witness, Gaines," said Mozley. "But I can say this much for him. When he was arrested after the crime and brought back here, he had the conscience and courage to tell the truth about it." Declaring that Goodwin's testimony was false from start to finish, Mozley, becoming aroused, Snowdrift shortens the work as well as the biscuits, because Snowdrift is a creamy shortening and a creamy shortening is easy to mix.

Santa Ana Group Of Women Attend Nations Festival

Miss Helen Walker, director of Americanization work in the Santa Ana schools; Mrs. Nellie M. Smith, assistant director; Mrs. Helen Ash and Mrs. Jessie Hayden, teachers in the department, and Mrs. Ida Walker, mother of Miss Walker, last night attended the festival of nations at the polytechnic school auditorium, Los Angeles.

The spectacular pageant play is sponsored by the council of international relations, of which Dr. R. B. Von Klein Smid is president. The festival will be reproduced each evening this week, with a matinee Saturday.

An impressive demonstration of the co-operation of the various nationalities in community education on international affairs was the presence and introduction, last night, of consular representatives of 18 different nations.

It was pointed out here today by Mrs. Hayden that for two years this organization has been carrying on an educational work which has attracted wide attention and which has been duplicated in other parts of the nation.

"The annual production of the festival is carrying a message of international understanding and good will to many nations," Mrs. Hayden said.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 117 N. Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, Va., I will send you this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

CRIMINOLOGIST WILL ADDRESS COUNTY POLICE

Plans were being completed today for the meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association, to be held tomorrow night, in Fullerton.

The meeting will be held in the Fullerton Ebell clubhouse, East Chapman avenue and Harvard street, and will be preceded with a dinner, to be served by the women of the Ebell club.

Dr. Paul E. Bowers, Los Angeles, former superintendent of the Indiana state penitentiary and former president of the Southern California Academy of Criminology, will be the principal speaker of the evening, according to an announcement made today by Herman Zabel, fingerprint expert of the sheriff's office, who is president of the county organization.

Dr. Bowers will address the officers on "Crime and Criminals."

Captain of Detectives Jack Bean, of the Los Angeles police department, who was scheduled to speak before the last meeting of the officers' association, also will be present to address the members.

Members of the association will discuss the proposed purchase of additional insurance and will vote on the proposition. The question is one of the most important to come before the association in the last several months and a large number of officers are expected to be present to vote.

Zabel announced today that the organization now has a membership of 100.

POLICEMAN HIT BY BULLET OF SUICIDE'S GUN

(By United Press)
HEALDSBURG, Calif., Nov. 2.—Gene Carter, 35, was such a poor shot that he almost killed a policeman while committing suicide.

His first bullet lodged in the shoulder of Patrolman Clyde McCord. The second was more successful, and Carter died with a bullet in his temple.

It all happened last night in the front yard of Mrs. F. Johnson's residence. Carter's attempted courtship vexed the woman and she called the police. Carter momentarily disappeared.

Patrolman McCord responded and was standing on the porch, questioning Mrs. Johnson, when a shot rang out from behind a bush in the yard. McCord clutched a wounded shoulder.

Another shot, and silence. Investigation located Carter, dead. Further investigation revealed that his first shot had grazed his temple, then passed on and struck the officer.

An Engagement Ring for HIM!

A ring for Him—as Her engagement gift—What could be more appropriate! In olden times the exchange of rings between maid and man was an important betrothal function. Modern girls are today following this custom. The modern girl presents her man with a stone-set ring as a symbol of her acceptance. The stone is either the man's birthstone, or the stone denoting the month of the engagement. Rings are of gold or platinum, handsome, bold and mannish. An interesting assortment awaits your inspection here.

EVENING CLASSES WILL HOLD PARTY

Teachers and pupils of the evening classes in the Frances Willard junior high school will be hosts to teachers and pupils of other evening classes at an entertainment program to be given in the Willard school Saturday night, starting at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Miss Helen Walker, director of Americanization work in the Santa Ana schools.

The early part of the evening will be featured by a program and games and the latter part of the evening will be devoted to dancing in the art room, with the high school orchestra furnishing the music.

Members of the various night classes will be privileged to invite friends to join them in the evening's entertainment.

CENSUS FIGURES DISCLOSE INCREASES IN POPULATION IN TOWNSHIPS AND CITIES

Disclosing population totals for the leading cities of the county, township census reports, ordered by the county supervisors, were filed with the board late yesterday, as a basis for new salary schedules in the six townships covered.

Four townships, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and Newport Beach, advanced into higher population classifications, as a result of the census, thereby giving the justices of the peace, and consequently the township supervisors, a extra boost in salary. Two townships, Orange and Brea, failed to advance, though both registered material population gains over the 1920 census.

Anaheim township made the greatest gain, advancing three classes to reach an equal footing with Santa Ana township on the salary schedule. Anaheim township went from the 9000-12,000 population class to 20,164.

Santa Ana forged ahead from the 15,000-20,000 class to the class of 20,000 and over. Fullerton township went from the 9000-12,000 class to the 12,000-15,000 class. Newport Beach advanced from the "under 3000" class to the 3000-6000 class. Orange remained in the 9000-12,000 class. Brea, which has been rated in the 9000-12,000 class, showed a census of 6901.

Whether this will cause a downward revision in the salary ratings of that township is not known.

No census was taken in Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Laguna Beach and San Juan townships, as it was not believed that any change in classification would result in those townships. Huntington Beach is rated in the 9000-12,000 class, the others in the "under 3000" class.

Population by Cities
In townships where the population of various cities was segregated, the following reports were rendered:

Santa Ana, 24,697.
Anaheim, 10,051.
Fullerton, 8336.
Orange, 6973.
Placentia, 2626.
Garden Grove, 2334.
Brea, 6901.
Newport Beach, 1634.
Buena Park, 1338.
Yorba Linda, 1049.
Atwood (Richfield), 624.
Olive, 485.

Population for La Habra, Tustin, Olive, El Modena, Villa Park and other towns covered by the census were not segregated. No census was taken in Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Costa Mesa, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano, or Westminster.

Township Populations
Township population figures, shown by the census, are: Santa Ana, 24,697; Anaheim, 10,051; Fullerton, 8336; Orange, 6973; Brea, 6901; Newport Beach, 1634.

Santa Ana township officials, heretofore receiving a salary of $125 in the 15,000-20,000 class, will henceforth be paid $175 per month. The new county government act increases salaries in all classes $25 per month. In addition to this raise, Santa Ana township advanced to a higher population class, gaining another $25 per month for its officials.

Anaheim justice of the peace and constable, now receiving $75 in the 9000-12,000 class, will henceforth receive $175 per month, a jump of $100 per month.

Fullerton officials, paid $75 per month, will, under the schedule, receive $125 per month. Orange officials, remaining in the same population class, will get merely the $25 per month increase provided by the legislature, giving them $100 per month. Brea officials will get the $25 increase if they remain in the same class. If they drop a class, their salary will remain at its present level, $75. Newport Beach officials, heretofore drawing $10 per month, will hereafter draw $50 per month. Officials of the four townships not covered by the census will come in for the increase provided present salary of $10 per month by the county government act, the law increased to $25 per month, with the exception of Huntington Beach, where the officials, now drawing $75 per month, will receive $100 per month.

Quiet Wedding Unites Miss Jennie Nelson And R. H. Johnson

Miss Jennie Nelson and Russell H. Johnson sprang quite a delightful surprise on their many friends late last week, when they announced the details of their quiet wedding of Friday evening, October 29. It occurred at the First Presbyterian manse, 303 Orange avenue, where the service was read by the Rev. Richard H. Silverthorne.

Miss Nelson wore a smart costume of soft satin in sand shades with hat, shoes and other dress accessories to correspond, and carried a cluster of bride's roses.

Mrs. Ralph Cole served as honor matron, and also chose one of the rich shades of brown for her frock, carrying pink sweet peas. Mr. Cole assisted Mr. Johnson as best man.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left at once for Los Angeles for the week-end, returning to this city in time for Mr. Johnson to return to his duties with the Roehm-Sylvester company, and Mrs. Johnson to take her place among the employees at the Southern Counties Gas company office on West Second street.

Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nelson, 1425 West Second street, and Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Anna Johnson of Tustin. They will be at home to their friends in a pleasant apartment at 1247 South Cypress avenue.

Sister Hostesses Give Costume Party

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Morthland at 1312 South Ross street was the scene of a Halloween party Saturday night when the two young daughters of the home, the Misses Marie and Dorothy Morthland, entertained a group of friends.

Witches, black cats and all the symbols appropriate to the season were used in decking the rooms where a series of merry games yielded prizes to Miss Erlene Farm and Miss Ruth Currens.

Late in the evening the weirdly costumed guests were directed to the diningroom, bright with orange and black decorations, and there seated at a table where most attractive appointments prevailed. Nut cups in the prevailing colors were filled with candies also orange and black. Orange and chocolate ices and Halloween cake were served and guests were given favors of saucy little orange tam o' shanters and whistles.

Mrs. Morthland was assisted in serving and in entertaining the young people by Mrs. Clarence Scott, Mrs. C. E. Sterneke and Mrs. Charles Coulson. The merry-makers included the Misses Helen Gardner, Ruth Currens, Erlene Farm, Fern Farm, Laura Nilsson, Virginia Potts, Natalie Mustol, Dorothy Coulson, Betty Coulson and the hostesses, Marie and Dorothy Morthland and Evelyn Mustol.

HALLOWE'EN SEASON PRESENTS MANY HAPPY SOCIAL AFFAIRS

For Miss Whitney
Miss Justine Whitney, genial county recorder, had a birthday on Sunday last, All Hallows' day, and it was celebrated in very happy manner. Miss Whitney is greatly beloved by her office force, and on Saturday morning the employees of the office presented their chief with a basket of beautiful roses and she was delighted and entirely satisfied.

But on Saturday afternoon Miss Whitney was bidden to attend a bridge party given by two members of her force, Mrs. George Chapman and Mrs. Sterling Oge at the latter's apartment on East Chestnut avenue.

Beautiful Halloween decorations prevailed, and after the series of games had been played, it was found that Miss Ruby Cameron and Mrs. Ada Robinson were the lucky winners of the pretty prizes. The card tables were then spread with dainty linens and centered with candles, all accessories carrying out the seasonal motif and surprise number one came when a lovely cake, twinkling with thirteen candles, the number of the office force, was placed before Miss Whitney.

Before she had recovered, many dainty packages had been placed on the table and when opened revealed many beautiful gifts from her "girls."

A dainty two-course refreshment menu was served and a so-called concluded the delightful event those present besides the hostesses and honoree including Mrs. Edith Schenkel, Mrs. Emma Smith, Mrs. Ada Robinson, the Misses Neta Kooz, Mathilde Williams, Ruth Crosby, Virga Trumbull, Ruby Cameron, Mabel Pruitt and Blanche Westering, and Mrs. Clara Hawkins of San Diego, sister of Mrs. Chapman, who assisted during the afternoon.

Bon Temps Ball
Twenty-five Orange county Shriners, accompanied by their wives, motored into Los Angeles Saturday night to attend the Bon Temps ball at Al Malakiah temple. It was declared that 5000 couples were present, a thousand of them in gay and brilliant costumes. Colored lights and beautiful decorations were augmented by quantities of confetti, blown through the air by huge machines, and adding an unbelievable beauty to the scene.

Stars from Warner Brothers, Pantages and West Coast organizations offered an entertaining program, and in the grand march, valuable prizes were presented the wearers of the most beautiful carnival costumes. Noble Joseph P. Smith, president of the Orange County Shrine club, was one of the judges, sharing the honor and the responsibility with Potentate Dave F. Smith and Director Fred Wadley.

The revelers who were unmasked, added to the carnival merriment and din by horns and rattlers and were given gay caps and other decorations.

Among those going in from the county Shrine club were Nobles and Mesdames Joseph P. Smith, George Osterman, Charles V. Doty, D. Eymann Huff, George W. Duncan, Clyde Jenkins, Thomas Warren, of Buena Park; H. T. Dunning, of Huntington Beach; Miss Ola Barnes and Noble Otto Evans of Fullerton, and many others.

Twelfth Birthday
It was a happy group of lads who yesterday afternoon helped Jack McCarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. McCarty, celebrate his twelfth birthday with a Halloween party at his home, 610 West Washington avenue.

All manner of games appropriate to the recent holiday, had been planned by Mrs. McCarty, and the boys entered into the fun with all of youth's enthusiasm. Mrs. Lyle Anderson, Mrs. Major Anderson and Mrs. H. M. Kinslow assisted the hostess in directing the games.

One of the outstanding events of the afternoon was when Jack was presented with birthday gifts by his comrades; Laid out was when refreshments were served. In the gayly decorated dining room, the table was arranged with a Halloween cloth and centered by a pumpkin jack-o'-lantern, electrically lighted.

At each place were favors of orange colored clappers and quaint little candy men. Sandwiches, fruit salad and olives formed the first course, which was followed by ice cream served with a beautiful orange and white birthday cake with Jack's name traced in the icing, and bearing twelve candles.

The happy young guests were Ed Farnsworth, Guy Purinton, Billy Steffens, Jack Gridley, Remus Koenig, Bob Scove, Robert Schwarm, Lyle Anderson Jr., Major Anderson Jr., Addison Bowers, Tom Blakeman, Cloy Frances, Francis Hall and Jack's cousin, Master J. B. Rossiter of Los Angeles.

Attractive Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, of West First street, were genial hosts at a very delightful Halloween 6:30 o'clock dinner party at their home one evening late last week.

As the guests entered they were greeted by a witch, cleverly placed in a commanding position and surrounded with appropriate companions of black cats and bats. The rooms were prettily decorated with orange-colored dahlias.

Following the enjoyment of the appetizing menu, the adults gathered about the card tables, while the children enjoyed music with piano and violin.

Besides the hosts, those participating in the happy event were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rurup, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moberly of Orange, Ross, Lloyd and Edwin Folger, Irma Williams, Nell and Nadeene Parker, Barbara and Louise Rurup.

Welcome Home Party

Inviting a coterie of old friends of Miss Monica Ralph to welcome her home from Minneapolis, Minn., where she has been for the past three months, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Ralph of 2403 Oakmont avenue entertained delightfully on Friday evening for their sister.

Mrs. Ralph carried out a most effective color motif of orange and black in all of the arrangements, a profusion of chrysanthemums adding to the Halloween decorations. The merry game of hearts whiled away the evening hours and at the close, Mrs. Calla Nevius and Miss Suzanne Claycomb were awarded the trophies.

The hostess had exercised great ingenuity in arranging the delicious little two-course supper, which carried out in detail the orange and black hues from the cheese pumpkins to dainty cakes toed with pumpkin faces. The napkins, doilies and nut cups made harmonizing accessories.

Those invited to welcome Miss Ralph home, included Mesdames Emma Van Dusen, Beatrice Wolfe, Calla Nevius, Emilie Snyder, and the Misses Estelle Davis, Rae W. Chase, Harriet Whidden, Suzanne Claycomb and Nelle Sumner.

Hold Barn Party

The Misses Leona McLeod and Dorothy Probst gave their guests a real thrill last Friday night, when they invited them to their home on 417 McFadden street. Upon arrival the young folk made a trip among the big walnut trees, where at every turn they were greeted by spooky and goblins, who made their hair stand on end.

The destination was the loft of the large barn, which was appropriately decorated with tall corn stalks and Halloween emblems. Many jolly games pertaining to the season were enjoyed, and the hostesses then led the way to the main floor of the barn, where refreshments were served, the room and table being artistically trimmed. Returning to the loft, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Besides the hostesses those participating in the jollity were the Misses Elizabeth Wendell, Ruth Julian, Florence and Mildred Fessman, Dorothy Duncan, Esther Loecher, Helen Harwood, Willie Mahaffey, Bonnie Sutherland and Messrs. Stanley Alexander, Ernest Hill, Lee Lister, Wilber Lewis, Lewis Merrill, Myron Duncan, Alfred Loecher, Lawrence Fair, Wendell Jordan, Norman Sheely and John McLeod.

Warren Cooke entertained a company of his young friends very delightfully at his home, 1329 West Fourth street on Friday evening, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cooke and his aunt, Miss Aurelia Biscailuz, assisting him in his pleasant duties.

The home was made gay with all sorts of Halloween decorations and the young folk spent the greater part of the evening with dancing. Late in the evening refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and cake were served the merry-makers, while cooling punch was enjoyed while the guests danced.

Besides the host, those enjoying the event were the Misses Madeline Reed, Cornelia Briscoe, Virginia Andrews, Marie Kline, Laverne Travis and Messrs. Pearl Campbell, J. Franklin Rice Jr., Karvel Baldwin, Herbert Meisinger, Norman Meisinger, Russell Daly, Harold Vierra, Rufus Longmire and Bud Hoyle.

Halloween Birthday

Master Neil Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Adams, 415 South Birch street, has the distinction of celebrating his birthday on Halloween and so on Saturday when he was ten years old, he was host at a happy afternoon party with a group of young friends as guests. Mrs. Adams, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Adams, had decked the home in all the favorite symbols of the season, and planned a succession of appropriate games. Among these was the pinning of a heart on a skeleton figure while blindfolded, prize for which went to Master Jackie Adams.

Of course the refreshment hour was the climax of the afternoon's fun, and the table was a pretty

Pretty Corona Affair Given in Compliment To Miss Russell

Since the recent announcement of the engagement of Miss Virginia Lee Russell, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Otto S. Russell, 1018 Spurgeon street, to William Maurice Weeks, Miss Russell has been the object of her friends' hospitality in many pleasant ways, the latest being a delightful party given for her Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Walker Abbey in Corona.

Mrs. Abbey will be remembered as Miss Ruth Violet, the beloved "Pinky" of scores of friends and of the young girls of her music classes at Frances Willard Junior high school. Her wedding in Garden Grove a little over a year ago, was one of the outstanding events of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Abbey made their home in San Bernardino immediately following their marriage, but recently came to Corona and it was there that the party for Miss Russell, the bride-to-be, was staged.

Guests were nearly all school friends of the honoree at the University of Redlands and came from Redlands, San Bernardino and Riverside as well as from this community. Their hostess had towels in readiness for them to embrace as a little offering to the honoree, and offered a prize for the most attractively completed towel.

This prize was, of course, won by Miss Russell, as the hostess had planned, and she was forthwith presented with the reward—a great tray laden with packages. When unwrapped, these were found to contain all manner of dainty linens, china and similar gifts from her friends.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Abbey added to the pleasure of her guests by playing several piano numbers, and radio accounts of the Stanford-U. S. C. game in progress in Los Angeles, were also found tremendously interesting. As the afternoon waned, Mrs. Abbey placed small tables in readiness for tea, arranging each one with dainty linens and china and centering them attractively with flowers. Rich cake, smothered with whipped cream and preserved cherries was served with tea and mints.

Santa Ana and Garden Grove guests asked, included in addition to Miss Russell, the honoree, Miss Dorothy Green, Miss Inez Moore, Miss Kathleen Owens, Miss Grace Hedstrom, Mrs. J. William Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Paul Vissman.

With its gay yellow decorations, a yellow birthday cake with ten candles was served with ice cream in the same cheery color, and Halloween candies were served in quaint little black cat candy boxes which formed clever favors for each young guest.

Many gifts were presented Neil by his playmates who were Harold Luce, Charles Blanchard, Dale Litchford, Carol Smith, Geraldine Smith, Louise Gardner, Bebe Gardner, Bernice McKinney and Master Jackie Adams.

At Perfume Plant
The Halloween holiday was celebrated in happy fashion last Friday night by employees of the Wilson Perfume company, with a party given at the plant, Fruit and Poinsettia streets.

Over fifty masqueraders in quaint costumes, took part in the affair, for which factory and offices were handsomely decorated. Dancing, games and ghost stories formed the evening's entertainment, planned by a competent committee. At a late hour, refreshments were served at tables arranged in a hollow square and decked with bright lights and appointments appropriate to the season.

Little Maid's Party

On Friday afternoon, a group of little girl-friends of Wanda Todd met at her home on Durant street, for a Halloween party. All were dressed in amusing costumes and made a very charming and attractive picture.

Bobbing for apples was one of amusing games which sped the afternoon hours until time for refreshments, which were appropriate to the season. For all the lights were turned out and in the semi-darkness the little maids took turn about telling ghost stories.

Eightieth Birthday Is Occasion for Happy Dinner Party

His eightieth birthday was made a happy event for James S. Rice, and a delightful day for his close friends and relatives, Sunday, when it was celebrated with a family gathering at his home on First street, Tustin.

Assembling at the family home, the guests enjoyed a 7 o'clock dinner at which Mr. Rice shared honors with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Willis Rice, whose birthday date was the same as his own.

The table presented a beautiful sight. Mrs. Barlow of Bakersfield had brought some very perfect pomegranates, and their deep scarlet tones combined beautifully with the gold of persimmons and autumn leaves in the center of the table. Tall yellow candles completed the artistic effect.

On the reverse of the name cards by which the guests sought their places, were verses written by the host, and describing humorously, some familiar trait or hobby of the individual diner. The guests were asked not to look at the reverse side of the cards until at a given signal from the host, when, in the interval of serving, they were read aloud in turn, adding to the gaiety and interest of the dinner hour. There were 21 present, so the feat of writing descriptive verses for each, was rather an extraordinary one, and everyone was impressed not only by the cleverness of the rhymes, but by the composition of so many suitable ones. Truly it was said that the expression of "eighty years young" was coined solely for Mr. Rice, for with each year added to his crown, his heart has grown younger.

The after-dinner interval was quite as happily conceived, for the musical program not only offered songs by Percy Rice, son of the home, and James Irvine Jr., and violin numbers by James Willis Rice, but it yielded all the favorite songs of an earlier generation, sung by Mr. Rice and Charles B. Barlow, with the latter at the piano. The host also recited a family favorite, "Sheridan's Ride," in German dialect, and his hilarious audience declared that he surpassed all former renderings.

In every detail, the occasion was a happy one, rendered even more so by quantities of handsome chrysanthemums, sent from the Irvine ranch and by Mrs. H. C. Kirk of Tustin, among other donors, and also many telegrams of good wishes from many friends including James Irvine sr., now in San Francisco; Mrs. Woodward of New York City, daughter of the C. A. Barlows, and Mrs. Nellie Maury of Los Angeles.

Many handsome gifts were presented the host in honor of his birthday, and while the fact that it was also the natal day of Mrs. James Willis Rice was not generally known, she too came in for a share of lovely gifts.

Those present were the Honorable C. A. Barlow and Mrs. Barlow, Charles Blanchard, Dale Litchford, Carol Smith, Geraldine Smith, Louise Gardner, Bebe Gardner, Bernice McKinney and Master Jackie Adams.

Unique Celebration of Halloween Season At Ranch Home

One of the most original and delightful of the long list of Halloween events, was the party planned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thomas, 510 Wisteria street, and given Saturday night.

The guests in colorful costumes, were bidden to the pretty new bungalow home of the hosts who were among the year's newly-weds. There they were surprised by being asked to take a drive over town, their vehicle being a huge truck. The hilarious ride ended at the Frank Thomas ranch on South McClay street, where an old unused ranch-house was the final destination.

This had been converted into an ideal setting for a Halloween party, by quantities of cornstalks, witch symbols and kindred decorations. An orthophonic had been installed and dancing was the chief amusement of the evening. A grand march was held that costumes might be judged, and Mrs. Burton Wright, in an old-fashioned garb, of Corona, a broad shouldered six-footer who created gales of laughter by appearing as a baby.

A spooky ghost story told eloquently by Mrs. Frank Thomas, added to the spirit of the evening. At a late hour, way was led to an adjoining room where a long table was lighted by tall orange candles in black holders, and centered with a great pumpkin rested in orange and black and filled with tiny black cats. The guests were seated on bales of hay to enjoy pimiento sandwiches with pickles, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee.

Enjoying the unique affair were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Otto, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lincoln and Arthur Webster, Corona; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Woodward and Miss Gertrude Heesch, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Willey, Lawrence Phillips, Hollywood; Burton Wright, Roy Fisher, Harold O'Donnell, Leavitt Ford, F. M. Thomas, H. Gail, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Gladys Thomas and Everett Montgomery of Santa Ana, and Miss Elsie Stewart, a sister of the hostess, who arrived from her home in San Francisco Saturday morning and will remain for an extended visit.

The old ranch-house where the party was held, had been the scene of a similar affair a few days previously, when Mrs. C. M. Deardorff, Mrs. W. M. Adams and Mrs. Lillian Bryan entertained. It also was a masquerade party and prizes were awarded Mrs. John Backus and Eugene Thomas for clever costumes.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TOWARD CREATION OF CITY ASSESSOR AND TAX COLLECTOR OFFICES

Completing its initial move for the installation of the offices of city assessor and tax collector, the city council last night adopted an ordinance rescinding an ordinance providing for the assessing of city property and the collecting of city taxes by the county assessor and county tax collector.

The step long has been discussed by city councils and the preceding council at one time attempted to institute the new offices and withdrew an ordinance providing for the offices when recall threats were made by taxpayers who were opposed to the plan.

The new plan is to be made effective in order to provide more revenue for operation of the city.

Opposed By McPhee
Councilmen F. L. Purinton, C. H. Chapman, E. B. Collier and Stanley Goode voted for the ordinance and George McPhee opposed it.

The same alignment was made on adoption of an ordinance permitting the opening of bowling and boxball alleys on Sunday afternoons and evenings. During week days such amusement places may open at 8:30 a. m., and on Sundays, at 1 p. m., and continue to midnight.

Submitting a report on the summer playgrounds, L. W. Archer, director of the playgrounds; W. S. Kellogg, principal of Frances Willard junior high school; Mrs. Fay Spangler, president of the Santa Ana city federation of Parent-Teacher association, and Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, president of the high school Parent-Teacher association, asked that the council give consideration to a larger appropriation for the coming year. The council appropriated $750 for last summer and contributions by other organizations brought the total to $1300.50.

Would Enlarge Scope

Those in charge want to enlarge the scope of the work next summer and have made up a budget indicating an expenditure of $2250. On behalf of the council, the mayor said that due consideration would be given the request. Attendance at the playgrounds last summer totaled 12,369, according to the report, with an average daily cost of 13.7 cents per pupil.

Permission was given for the curbing of the pavement on West Eighth street for installation of gas service for E. B. Crilly, at 1702, and for his neighbor, at 1706, the two services to be on one supply line. According to a statement to the council by Griley, he and his neighbor recently purchased their properties at auction, with the understanding that all public utility services were in. It developed that the former owner of the property had refused to put in the service lines before the pavement was put down.

Councilmen Goode and McPhee and City Engineer Neff were appointed a committee to investigate the opening of an alley in block B, Walnut Grove tract. The request for the opening was made by J. H. Ryan. A number of walnut trees will have to be removed. Hickman was given a 50-gallon gasoline "buggy" at their place of business, southeast corner of Bishop and Main streets.

S. H. Kress and company were given permission to install an electric sign at their place of business.

Chief of Police Claude Rogers and City Attorney Z. B. West were appointed a committee to investigate operation, by Matthews and Maynard, of a small planing mill at the rear of a residence in the 1300 block on Cypress avenue. George R. Wells, of the paving contracting firm of Wells and Bressler, today was considering whether he would pay an assessment of $78.14 levied against a small triangular lot on Twentieth street or deed the property to the city. The charge was created by the paving of Twentieth street and Valencia avenue, the lot cornering on Twentieth and the Southern Pacific tracks. The lot contains 285 feet and is too small for any kind of a building enterprise. Wells has paid other assessments against the small piece and now is about ready to surrender title to avoid the possibility of future assessments.

The city engineer was directed to prepare plans and specifications for an ornamental street lighting system on Third street, from Broadway to French. The action was taken on the basis of a petition signed by the owners of 66 per cent of the frontage in the district. Abandonment of a short strip of right-of-way on the east side of Greenleaf street was authorized. Abandonment was to correct an error in an early day survey.

Investigation of a possible saving in street light bills by placing the service on meter was delegated to Light Commissioner McPhee.

Mayor Purinton was given authority to make improvements in the comfort station in Birch park.

CLYDE DOWNING TO HEAD CHEST DRIVE DIVISION

Roland E. Dye, secretary and campaign manager of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, announced today that Attorney Clyde Downing had been appointed division chairman in place of T. M. Winbier, whose business duties forced him to give up the management of a campaign division.

It also was announced that the divisional managers are busy securing team captains, who are to meet at the community chest headquarters, 311 North Sycamore street, at 7:30 p. m., Thursday, November 4, for the purpose of completing organization plans. After Thursday the work of securing 400 volunteers to assist in the active solicitation during the time of the campaign will begin.

It was pointed out at the chest headquarters that this would not be a house-to-house campaign. Only those persons whose means would indicate that they would subscribe to the chest organization will be seen.

The chest officials announced that community chest agencies are preparing floats for the coming Armistice day parade, which will carry out the idea of some of the activities carried on by these welfare agencies.

The fact that this year's chest fund is $4000 smaller than last year's objective should not mean a cut in subscriptions, the chest officials explained, because this year there is a new agency, the Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange County, and the total still is 10 per cent more than actually was raised last year.

BUTLER LEADS IN EARLY RETURNS

For governor, the town gave Fuller, Republican, 58; Gaston, Democrat, 125.

Police News

Louis Miller, 1509 North Ross street, reported a window broken at his house last night by a youth who threw a clod of dirt through it. The boy was not apprehended.

A 30-30 rifle was stolen from the home of Ford Leshar, 1722 West Fifth street, yesterday, according to a report made by Leshar to police. No one was at home at the time of the theft.

S. A. Clardy, 1024 West Washington avenue, reported the theft of seven sacks of walnuts from his barn last night. The loss was discovered early today.

Frank Vaughn, state traffic officer, who was injured several months ago while on duty on Newport road, still is in Orange County hospital. He suffered broken bones in one leg and one hand, and, although his condition is greatly improved, it was said today that he probably would be confined at the hospital for at least two more months.

A spotlight was stolen from an automobile belonging to George E. Morton, 804 West Washington avenue last night, while the car was parked in the 300 block, on East Chestnut street, according to a report filed with police.

VICTORY CLAIMED BY BOTH PARTIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The best prediction of the results of today's election, drawn from inspection of the forecasts of national committees of both parties, wet and dry organizations and political experts follows:

Coolidge prosperity will be endorsed by an overwhelming vote and a Democratic landslide will prove national impatience with Republican policies.

The farmers, ground into bankruptcy by G. O. P. indifference and an unfair tariff, will vote the Republican ticket straight to show their confidence in an administration which has had their welfare at heart.

The election result will be a rebuke to nullificationists who advocate repeal of the Volstead act, and the sovereign voters, taking advantage of their first opportunity to express themselves on liquor, will demonstrate their distaste for the 18th amendment by electing wet candidates.

Body of Houdini Reaches New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The body of Harry Houdini, magician, arrived today in its air-tight bronze coffin from Detroit and was taken directly from the train to a funeral parlor.

Mrs. Houdini, the magician's widow, was in a state of collapse, and had to be removed in a wheel chair, in which she had made the journey east.

Relatives, actor friends and representatives of various organizations met the train and, in company with a crowd of curious bystanders, bowed as the coffin was transferred to an undertaker's automobile.

'Forget It,' Says Premier of Italy

BOLOGNA, Italy, Nov. 1.—(Delayed by Italian censor).—Premier Mussolini's first words after the attempt to kill him here Sunday were:

"Forget it."

Turning to Under Secretary Grandi and Deputy Arpinati, who were sponsors of the Bologna celebration, Mussolini said:

"I know that Arpinati is downhearted because this happened in Bologna, but I feel in my heart that the Bologna demonstration is one of the greatest ever accorded my regime."

Stockman Drives 200 Miles to Vote

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Nov. 2.—Getting to the polls is not such an easy task in the great open spaces of Nevada, but E. A. Stauffer, Nevada stockman, drove up in front of the post office this morning bright and early, the first in line to cast his ballot, after a 200-mile drive from his ranch. He voted a split ticket.

"Won't you shoot a game of pool?" queried a loitering cowboy acquaintance, after Stauffer voted.

"Sorry, gotta get back and feed the cows before nightfall," was Stauffer's reply, and he was off.

FLAMES RAGING IN NORTHERN TIMBER

REDDING, Calif., Nov. 2.—A forest fire, burning on a three-mile front, was raging uncontrolled today in the region beyond White-moore and Fern, eating into valuable timber and defying the efforts of fire-fighters in the entire countryside.

The fire started yesterday from sparks when the Fern schoolhouse was destroyed. It was at first believed the damage to timber would not be serious, but shifting winds during the night sent the fire sweeping down Twin valley.

Every available volunteer was mustered today and sent into the endangered district.

Whitemore and Fern are not believed to be seriously threatened.

The Sahara desert was once a dense forest, inhabited by a thriving race of people, according to a University of Chicago professor.

WOOD SEEKS TO INSURE PROPER
RESPECT FOR FLAG, ANTHEM

Attention of School Officials Called to Regulations Relative to Salute

CO-OPERATES WITH VETERANS' BODIES

Wants Suggestions Observed and Impressed Upon Minds of Young People

Official recognition of efforts made by the Grand Army of the Republic, the American Legion and the United Spanish War Veterans to insure proper respect to the national colors and to the national anthem are instructions contained in a letter written by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, to all school trustees and school officials in the state:

The movement to insure more respect to the flag, launched by the veterans' organizations, found a ready echo among the various service clubs and the Parent-Teacher organizations.

Wood's letter is as follows: "Your attention is called to the following regulations relative to flag salute and the salute to the national anthem, adopted by the flag conference three years ago. You are requested to observe these suggestions and to impress them upon the minds of the young people in your jurisdiction.

Salute to Flag
During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right-hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes.

When the national anthem is played, those present in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note of the anthem. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress with the right hand and hold it as in the salute to the flag. Women should render the salute as to the flag. When there is no flag displayed, all should face the music.

In pledging allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, the approved practice in the schools, which is suitable also for civilian adults, is as follows:

Hand Over Heart
Standing with the right hand over the heart, all repeat together the following pledge:
"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

At the words "to the flag," the right hand is extended, palm upward, toward the flag and this position is held until the end, when the hand, after the words, "justice for all," drops to the side. However, civilian adults always will show full respect to the flag, when the pledge is being given, by merely standing at attention, men removing the headress.

IN NEW BANK

Herbert M. Sammis, for nine years connected with the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank, at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, who has gone to San Diego to accept the position of vice president and assistant cashier in the new San Diego State bank.

H. M. SAMMIS
ASSUMES NEW BANK POSITION

Assuming his new position as vice president and cashier of the new San Diego State bank, Thirtieth and University streets, San Diego, on Monday of this week, Herbert M. Sammis brought to a close over nine years of efficient service with the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank, in this city.

Saturday was his final day in the Santa Ana institution, where he was chief teller. He came to the bank here when first coming to Santa Ana from San Diego and when it was the California National bank. When it became the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank a few years ago, with J. K. Hermon as president, he remained as chief teller, resigning only to take the important new position in the southern city.

His place in the bank here will be taken by Fred Crowell, a former assistant cashier. Crowell resides at 1345 South Garney avenue.

While the Sammis family eventually will establish a home in San Diego, it will be at some date in the late winter, as the young son, Herbert Jr., is a student in Frances Willard junior high school and it was deemed wisest to allow him to finish, if not the school year, at least the semester, here. So Mrs. Sammis will remain at the family home, 216 East Washington avenue, until February at least.

The one daughter, Miss Dorothy Sammis, graduate of polytechnic high school, is a student in the University of California, Southern Branch, where she is specializing in music. Like her mother, Miss Sammis has a very pleasing voice. Mrs. Sammis always is in demand at musical events because of a beautiful well-trained voice. She is prominent in social, club and church circles and is chairman of music in the southern district Federation of Women's Clubs, having filled the same position last year in the county federation.

A member of Santa Ana lodge, 241, E. and A. M., Sammis resigned the office of senior warden to take his new position. He and Mrs. Sammis and Miss Dorothy are active in Hermosa chapter, O. E. S.

BOARD MAKES NO ANSWER TO
FUNDS REQUEST

Jacians Will Inquire What Action Taken on Matter Aiding Fete Grotesque

The board of directors of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday noon, voted to inquire, by letter, of the county board of supervisors, what disposition had been taken, if any, of the chamber's request for an appropriation of $2500 for the purpose of defraying part of the expense of the proposed Fete Grotesque, which the organization hopes to produce in Santa Ana April 1, 1927.

It was pointed out by several directors that a delegation of directors from both divisions of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce had appeared before the county board and had outlined the purposes for which it was proposed to spend the money, but that no answer of any sort had been received by the chamber concerning the action taken.

Directors further pointed out that appropriations had been made by the board for the Anaheim Valencia Orange show, the speed boat regatta at Newport Beach and the Orange County fair, but that the board had extended no appropriation to Santa Ana to be used for advertising purposes.

Along the same line, it was said at the meeting, the board proposed to spend $7500 or $10,000 for the purpose of inserting advertisements in Los Angeles and Long Beach newspapers, the money to come out of the advertising fund, which the junior chamber directors had been given to understand was practically depleted.

There also was some discussion as to what means the city council would take to spend the approximately $13,000 made available for city advertising through the assessment approved at the last Santa Ana special election. Dean Collier, treasurer, reported that the financial condition of the junior chamber was good, with all bills paid and money in the coffers.

Routine business matters were considered before the meeting adjourned.

TWO DRAW LONG JAIL SENTENCES

Two men, one sentenced from Huntington Beach and the other from Seal Beach, entered the county jail yesterday afternoon.

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Markus J. Wilkes, 21, 1145 East Sixty-sixth street, Los Angeles, yesterday was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $100. He chose the jail sentence. Wilkes was sentenced in Justice court in Seal Beach.

Eddie Gavaara, 25, 107 Hickory street, Santa Ana, yesterday was found guilty of disturbing the peace in Huntington Beach and sentenced to serve 100 days in jail or pay a fine of $100. He still is in jail.

MEMORIAL STONE ERECTED
TO HEROES OF WAR OF '98

Monument erected in Orange County park to Orange county men who lost their lives in the Spanish American war. The stone will be unveiled on Armistice day.

MONUMENT TO ORANGE COUNTY
SPANISH WAR DEAD WILL BE UNVEILED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Bringing memories to the days of '98 when men throughout the United States responded to the call to arms against the Spaniards, is the monument recently completed in the Orange County park in memory of Orange county men killed in the service.

The monument is of concrete and is 11 feet high. It is situated just north of the lake. On the front of the monument is a plate, with the names of those who died. On the back is a plate, inscribed with the names of the 105 living members of Company L, with the veterans of Company L, with the varying.

The committee in charge of its erection included Col. S. H. Finley, Bert Campbell, Walter Greenleaf, M. C. Cooper, E. B. Collier and R. C. Northcross. According to Northcross, the cannon, which formerly was on the lawn in front of the courthouse, will be at the foot of the monument.

Dedication services will be held on Armistice day, starting at 3 p. m. A feature of the program will be a talk by Judge Ballard, who gave the principal address at a meeting of Company L just before it left for the Philippines.

An address also will be made by Clyde Bishop. Taps will be blown, a firing squad will fire a salute and, finally, the monument will be unveiled.

2 Runaway Girls
Are Apprehended

Two 16-year-old girls, Gwendolyn Platt, 1327 Ricker avenue, Belvedere Gardens, daughter of A. R. Platt, and Daisy Cowart, 1250 McBride street, Belvedere Gardens, who ran away from their homes yesterday, were arrested early today, in Tustin, by Deputy Sheriffs Herman Zabel and Joe Irvine.

The girls were traced to Orange county last night, after a report had been received that they had left home, and they were found early today.

Prisoner On Work
Gang Escapes

J. B. Edgar, Brea man, serving six months in the county jail on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, escaped late yesterday afternoon from a gang of prisoners working at the Orange County hospital.

Seven prisoners left the jail yesterday morning to work in the hospital yards. They were guarded by a deputy sheriff.

A search for Edgar was made throughout the northern part of the county yesterday afternoon, but he has not been found.

Edgar was sentenced to serve six months in jail by a Brea court and started sentence on October 8, having served less than a month when he escaped.

Two Fast Drivers
Enter County Jail

Two speeders, given jail sentences in Justice Kenneth Morrill's court several days ago, were booked in the Orange county jail last night for five-day sentences.

J. E. Campbell, 2227 East C street, San Diego, and A. H. Johnson, 31, route No. 4, Santa Ana, were the men who went to jail.

Both pleaded guilty to charges of speeding more than 50 miles an hour over county roads.

HOTEL LEASE
IN SANTA ANA
IS PURCHASED

San Jose Man Takes Over Control of Hostelry at Sixth and Main Streets

A business deal, involving close to $50,000, was consummated today when William J. Murphy, well known California hotel man, formerly of San Francisco and until recently connected with various hotel enterprises in San Jose, took over the management of Hotel Santa Ana, Sixth and Main streets, from Earl Busby, proprietor and manager of the hotel. The sale, involving the lease on the hotel building, furniture and equipment, advertising contracts, and other interests, was handled by C. W. Beardsley of the J. D. Minster company, hotel brokers, Los Angeles. Assisting Murphy in drawing up the necessary papers, was Archer Bowden, a San Jose attorney.

Several propositions considered. It was only after having considered a half dozen propositions in various parts of the state, and following conferences with prominent bankers and real estate men, that Murphy decided to cast his lot with Santa Ana.

He has been engaged in the hotel business in California for 15 years. While in San Francisco, he held executive positions at the St. Francis and the Hotel Manx. He left the Bay City to accept the position of manager of Hotel Montgomery, San Jose, which position he held for seven years. Entering into business for himself, he operated various small hotels in San Jose, including the Alton hotel and the Park hotel. He also owned and managed the Foothill hotel, Los Gatos.

Served in World War

Murphy is a World War veteran and past commander of the San Jose post, No. 89, American Legion. He served overseas with the engineers during the war, holding the rank of first lieutenant. As a result of injuries received, he was confined to a hospital for more than a year. He is a member of the Disabled American Officers of the World War and of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

In addition to holding membership in the California Hotel Men's association and the Greeters of America, Murphy has been actively identified with the Optimist club. He also has been interested in chamber of commerce work and community advertising, having served on various committees of commercial and civic improvement organizations. He and his family will make their home at the hotel.

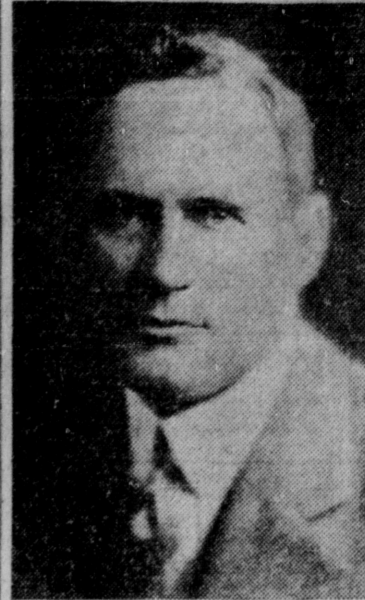

Earl Busby, who has operated Hotel Santa Ana for four years, will leave for Santa Barbara, where he will make his home temporarily.

COUNTY BANKERS TO ATTEND GROUP MEET

Banks of Orange county are preparing to send delegations to the quarterly meeting of group four, California Bankers' association, in Riverside Saturday afternoon and night of this week. The principal address of the meeting will be by Rufus B. Von Klein Smid, president of the University of Southern California. His subject will be "Factors in Economic Stability."

Other speakers will include A. E. Lohm, secretary of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce, who will talk on "Banks as Seen by Depositors," Edward Elliott, Los Angeles, vice president of the American Institute of Banking.

Ten-minute reports on the condition of business in each of the counties represented in group four are to be made. Attorney H. C. Head is to speak for Orange county. Other counties represented will be San Diego, Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino.

IRVING VINING

President of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, who will speak at a joint meeting here, Wednesday night, of the junior and senior divisions of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

OREGON STATE
CHAMBER HEAD
TO SPEAK HERE

Irving E. Vining, president of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, who will speak at a joint meeting of the senior and junior divisions of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at St. Ann's Inn Wednesday night, starting at 7:30, spent a number of years lecturing to organizations of business executives in New York and other eastern cities, aiding them in the solution of problems of personal efficiency.

For years Vining was associated with Columbia university. Through his work among the leaders of "big business" he gained such prominence, it is said, that the Merchants Association of New York called upon him for his highly specialized advice in directing the vocational guidance department of its bureau of re-employment of service men after the war.

One Year Abroad

Vining, a native of Oregon, was a professor in the Southern Oregon Normal school, in Ashland, for seven years before he went east. He later spent one year traveling abroad, where he formed many valuable contacts.

Giving up his extensive public work in the east, where he was much sought after for the platform, he returned to Oregon a few years ago and retired to his estate in Ashland. But the need for leadership was so great that he was induced to become president of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce three years ago. Representing his organization, he has proved a vital factor in the upbuilding of his state by inspirational talks in cities on the Pacific coast and in intermountain states, as well as in the east.

In his address here Wednesday night Vining will outline the various steps by which community enthusiasm can be properly capitalized to bring the best results in the realization of the various aims and projects this section of the state is striving to accomplish.

Santa Ana's developments will be used as the basis of illustration and its citizens not only will be urged, but directed to the various steps necessary to the realization of community plans and ambitions.

A general vision of coast needs and opportunities will be given, together with the usual reaction, as found in the eastern viewpoint when Pacific coast opportunities are presented.

Statements as to the best methods of meeting the eastern viewpoint, as well as misunderstandings, which have arisen through overenthusiastic presentation of Pacific coast possibilities will be made.

HAAN SELECTED FOR COUNTY FAIR BOARD

Otto Haan, president and manager of the Cadillac Garage company, yesterday was named by the Orange County Automobile Trades association as associate director of the Orange County Fair association, the election of a representative of the automotive industry on the fair board having been made at the solicitation of the fair management. Mayor Frank Purinton, director of the county fair, made the request, representing the board.

Appointment of a representative of the automotive industry was made for the purpose of tying that industry closer to the fair and for the purpose of making the auto show at the fair next year one of the biggest and best displays ever staged.

Haan will form the contact between the fair management and the automotive industry and, in a sense, will direct matters pertaining to the automobile show.

Commenting on his appointment, Haan said today that if the industry would co-operate fully and limit displays to one a year and that in connection with the annual fair auto and accessory dealers and garage men would benefit far more than by holding two or three automobile shows in a year.

Complete Reports on Plans For Celebration Made at Meeting in Legion Hall

ALL ASKED TO PAUSE IN MEMORY OF DEAD

Bomb Will Be Set Off at 11 a. m., and Public Will Bow in Silent Tribute

One hundred six entries already have been received by the parade committee of the Santa Ana American Legion post, in charge of the seventh annual Orange county Armistice day celebration, to be held in Santa Ana, Thursday, November 11.

A full report of all plans was made at the meeting of the general celebration committee, held last night at the headquarters of the Santa Ana post. Joseph Plank, chairman of the parade division, said that letters had been sent to all organizations and firms expecting to enter floats or marching units, with full information as to where the parade units should be parked both before and after the patriotic spectacle.

A number of entries probably will be added in the time remaining before the parade starts, at 11:01 a. m., November 11.

Will Discharge Warning Bomb

Plank said that at 10:30 a warning bomb would be set off, to be followed by another bomb at 11 o'clock. Immediately following the second signal, all those present in the city will be asked to stand uncovered for a moment in honor of the memory of those who have died for their country in time of war. At 11:01 a. m., the third bomb will be exploded and the big parade will move.

The first section of the parade will include the marching of the Maj. E. J. Marks, with a special mounted guard of honor, picked from the Civil war veterans, the Spanish-American war veterans and the World War veterans. The celebration officials and members of the Santa Ana city council also will ride in special cars in the first division. The 106-piece band from the U. S. S. Mississippi will be a unit in this division, it was said. The band is one of 12 to be in the parade, according to Harry Hanson, chairman of the band committee.

Judge Floats Before Parade

The floats are to be judged before the parade begins. It is expected that the first floats will be judged by 10 a. m., the entire job to be completed before the "zero hour" is reached and the parade is started. Invitations have been sent to all county newspapers to have representatives in the special reviewing stand, which is to be constructed on Broadway, just opposite St. Ann's Inn.

Members of the parade committee will be distinguished from other officials of the day by means of red, white and blue arm bands. Ten thousand programs, giving the program in detail, are being printed for general distribution the day of the celebration.

The Santa Ana Municipal band will be heard in a special concert just after the parade concludes.

EAT THE THEATERS

If you want to laugh one minute and weep the next—Ray Griffith in "You'd Be Surprised," which closes tonight at the Yost Broadway theater. It is undoubtedly Griffith's best picture since "Paths to Paradise." As a "Sherlock Holmes," Ray goes through mental gymnastics in the untangling of a murder mystery which would do credit to any sleuth.

It's hard to say which of the picture contains more of—laughs or thrills. Griffith, a coroner, tries to discover who killed the district attorney. Instead of solving the mystery he finds himself in the center of a dozen others, and also discovers that he has fallen in love with a girl whom everyone suspects as the criminal.

Dorothy Sebastian, playing opposite Ray, makes a lovely foil for his emotions. Earle Williams enacts the deputy district attorney, and Edward Martindale, the attorney. Arthur Rosson, the director of "Wet Paint," was again at the helm.

WEST COAST WALKER
A fascinating page from history brought to life is the story of "3 Bad Men," which will have its last appearance at the West Coast-Walker theater today.

Directed by John Ford of "The Iron Horse" fame, with Olive Thornton playing the part of Lee Corbett, the heroine, and George O'Brien as the youthful pioneer, and a cast of such outstanding actors as J. Farrell MacDonald, Tom Santschi and Frank Campeau in the title roles, this is one picture that more than comes up to expectations. Each of the principal characters is portrayed by a well known screen favorite, including Lou Tellegen, as the smooth but villainous gambler, Alec B. Francis, as the minister, and Otis Harlan as the mirth provoking priest.

The Fanchon-Marcon stage show also closing tonight is their smartest—"Milady's Dresser." Idea, Henry Fink, Broadway musical comedy star, is featured with an aggregation of Fanchon and Marco's most talented dancers, including Arline Langan, Dorothy Crocker, Natalie Harrison, Ada Broadbent, Valerie Wade, Rega Victoria and Lucinda Beatty.

Fink, the author and composer of many successful songs and reviews, is the outstanding performer of the revue. He is billed America's popular singing comedian, and completely captivates the audience with his popular numbers.

Way Watts and his band of gloom-chasers are on hand as usual and contribute their share to the show.

YOST THEATER
One of the most talked of motion pictures made in many years is "The Flame of the Yukon," opening tonight at the Yost theater. This is a remarkable photograph of gold rush days in the Canadian Northwest, and it is said by critics to be tremendously dramatic and appealing. Seena Owen, for many years a popular screen star, has the stellar role and she is supported in the leading man's part by Arnold Gray, who is quite unknown to screen fans but who, by reason of his great performance in this picture, is bound to spring into film prominence.

The late Thomas H. Ince originally filmed this gold rush classic in 1917 and has always maintained that it was one of the greatest productions he ever sponsored. Critics agreed that it was an outstanding picture of its day and it served to elevate Dorothy Dalton from obscurity to stardom overnight.

WEST END THEATER
"The Keeper of the Bees," the new novel by Gene Stratton-Porter, which is now sweeping the country in book form, will begin a run at the West End theater in its motion picture garb when it has its first showing locally.

The Southern California backgrounds against which the action and romance are projected prove lovely, and the work of little Gene Stratton Monroe, grand-daughter of Mrs. Porter, is of particular interest in that she is the actual "little scout" of the story.

Persons in uniform should render the right hand salute.

When the national anthem is played and the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note of the anthem. All others should stand at attention, men removing the headress. When the flag is displayed, the regular salute to the flag should be given.

BYRD'S NORTH POLE PLANE WILL BE FLOWN OVER SANTA ANA ON WAY TO SAN DIEGO

Santa Ana will not be favored by a visit from Com. Richard E. Byrd and his around-the-north-pole Fokker monoplane, the Josephine Ford, but the plane will go out of its way to fly over this city next Monday, the exact hour to be announced later.

This was the information received today by Com. Berle Northland, of the Santa Ana Air club, and Mason Yould, president of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, who had invited the intrepid flyer to land in Santa Ana on his way to San Diego and, with the members of his crew, be guests of the organizations at a joint meeting. Word was received to the effect that Byrd is not on the plane, the pilot being left to Floyd Bennett, who was with him on his history-making flight over the Arctic wastes. The itinerary was made up several months ago in Washington and Santa Ana could not be included after the list was closed.

In Los Angeles Friday
The plane will arrive in Los Angeles next Friday, from San Francisco. It will remain in Los Angeles Saturday and take part in an aerial circus to be held at Clover field, Santa Monica, Sunday. On Monday the plane will fly to San Diego and it is during that leg of the journey that Santa Ana will get its glimpse of the north pole navigator.

The Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics is sending Commander Byrd's north pole plane on a tour of the United States through the courtesy of Commander Byrd and in co-operation with the department of commerce.

The famous polar expedition ship has been unaltered since its great achievement, except for the substitution of a regular landing gear for the skis used in taking off at Spitzbergen.

On arrival at San Diego, the plane will have completed 4125 miles of the tour, for which it has been generously loaned by Commander Byrd as his contribution to the development of aeronautics in the United States.

Eight Years in Service
Bennett, chief pilot of the plane, has spent eight years in the service of aeronautics. He was selected to form a large number of navy aviation pilots for the honor of accompanying Commander Byrd in his hazardous flight to the pole. The purpose of the tour is to prove the possibilities of commercial aviation, to show the necessity for marked and lighted airways and well constructed airports and to stress the need for increased aerial mail, passenger and express traffic to support this service.

During its stay in San Diego, the Byrd-north pole plane will be under guard at Rockwell field, where it may be seen by the public. Bennett and his companions will take off for Tucson Tuesday morning. There remain 16 scheduled stops in the tour, which will cover a total of about 7000 miles. Although no date has been set for completion of the flight, the plane is expected to reach Washington about December 1.

ROOSEVELT

Assembly
The children of Roosevelt school gathered in the kindergarten on Wednesday morning to celebrate Roosevelt's birthday. Miss Pulham had charge of the assembly. The program consisted of song by the kindergarten, piano solo by Winifred Triplett, piano solo by Ruby Moore; saxophone solo by Grave Rogers, and an interesting address on Roosevelt by the Rev. Mr. Silvertown.

Baseball Games
An inter-class game was held at noon Thursday on the small diamond between the A4 and B5 class and the A4 and A3 class. Miss Grant kept score and Miss Camblin umpired. The score was 11 to 3 in favor of the fourth and fifth grade. The players were, A4 and B5: John Ramirez, Gilbert Gonzales, Frank Marr, Charles Ortiz, Dale Smith, George Dorsey, Robert Pico, Lee Sunstrum, Paul Popper, Charles Blanchard, and B4 and A3: Charles Covell, Mac Beale, Jack Boothling, Billy Wolfe, James McWalter, Paul Wolfine, William Semmacher, Teddie Frederick, Robert Forney and John Frederick.

Artesia vs. Roosevelt
The Roosevelt first team played the Artesia second team on Monday, after school. Artesia won by a score of 11 to 3. The Roosevelt boys playing were: George Carlsoza, Gerald Crawford, Don Wismer, Gilbert Gonzales, Kenneth Georgeon, Bruce Barton, Benton Van Dien, Donald Boyd, David Beall and Jack Preston.

Art Lessons
The children in Miss Campbell's art class made Halloween masks out of paper bags. These they wore on a parade to all the rooms, to show how weird they were.

Miss Walker's classes spent part of their time in art lessons this week to make masks and Halloween pictures.

Halloween Parties
Each class had a Halloween party in its own room the last period on Friday.

Just before the parties began all the children in costumes marched in review across the campus while the others looked on.

The two sixth grade clubs had a party together in the clubroom, attractively decorated in orange and black. The two first prizes for pinning the eye on the Jack-o'-lantern went to Hazel Thompson and Raymond Ambrose. Miss Walker sang a clever song. Fortunes tied up in black paper were given out from a black kettle by a gypsy fortune teller. The committees having charge of the party and helping to make it a success were: decorations, Raymond Floyd and Benton Van Dien; games, May Gifford and Essie Smith; refreshments, Opal Haddock and Helen Dugger.

The kindergarten children had their party in the morning. Before they went home they went on a parade to the different rooms, and sang a little Halloween song.

The band will play in the stand at Birch park. The industrial floats will be parked on the vacant lot across from the park for inspection by the public in the afternoon.

Room for More Entries

Gene Douglas, in charge of parade entries, said that additional floats or marching units could be accommodated and would be assigned positions up until a few hours before the parade starts. He asked that persons interested in making entries communicate with him at the Santa Ana Builders' exchange headquarters.

Several representatives of the Fullerton post were present at the meeting last night and assured the Santa Ana parade committee that Fullerton would have at least three floats and marching units entered.

The meeting last night, the last general committee gathering before the November 11 event, was presided over by Plank.

Dramatic Gripping Thrilling

A tremendous, virile, pulsing melodrama of the Canadian Northwest in mad gold rush days, when strong men fought, loved, toiled and died in their frenzied search for riches, and where only the fittest were fated to survive.

HEADACHE, COLDS, COSTIVE BOWELS, TAKE "CASCARETS"

To-night! Clean your bowels and end Headaches, Colds, Sour Stomach

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

FRANCIS WILLARD

Girls' Service Club
The Willard Welfare club held its meeting in the banquet room last Wednesday noon. Following the regular routine of business an entertaining program was enjoyed. One girl started an exciting and humorous story and ended it in a difficult place which had to be continued without delay by the next girl.

The girls were pleased to welcome their guest, Mrs. Nichols, and one new member, Georgia Gail Pennock. A vote of thanks was extended to the Boys' Service club and to Mrs. Tyner for the lovely Halloween decorations.

Class Election
The 5th class elected the following officers to serve this semester: President, Florine Pollock; vice president, Ora Engle; secretary, Bill Hawk; treasurer, Rodger Drake.

Boys' Service Club
At the weekly Willard Service club luncheon, Tuesday, Fred Rafferty talked to the boys on the very interesting subject of transportation in the Orient. He has made trips to various parts of the world.

He told the members of the primitive methods of transportation used in the Orient. There are no roads in China because the people always walk. The streets in China and Japan are so narrow that when traveling in the sedan chair the men have to back into doors to turn onto another street. The most popular method of transportation in Japan is the jinricksha which means pull-man-cart.

Mr. Rafferty also said that Canton is a city of a great many canals. There is a lower class in Canton that never set foot on land. They live in boats all their lives. He then passed around some very interesting photos that he had taken himself. The meeting was then adjourned.

Scrap Book Club
The Scrap Book club met last Monday afternoon for its first meeting with the leader, Miss Fitz. About ten were present and several more have planned to join next time. It was decided to meet every Monday as the members are anxious to finish as many books before Christmas as they can.

Debating Club Organized
Mr. Read has organized his debating club again this year. Last year this was one of the most progressive and interesting clubs in school and holds considerable promise again this year. The club already has the limit of members made up of ninth graders so a second debating club for eighth graders will be organized with Miss Grace Smiley as leader. This club will meet after school, once a week, and discuss topics of current interest.

Home Economics
The advanced foods class has begun serving luncheon. In connection with these lessons the girls study meal planning, marketing, cooking, serving, table manners, and the art of conversation. At first the guests will be confined to members of the class but later on the girls hope to entertain their mothers and their teachers. Each girl in the class will sometime be chairman of a group serving a luncheon. The chairman of the first two groups are Helen Wiesseman and Betty Hawk. The menu served last week was planned by Helen Bower.

The seventh grade classes are studying breakfasts and nutrition. They have been hard at work lately on their note books, illustrating each recipe and gathering pictures of all the different food groups. Next week a committee will select the most attractive books. Some of the books are now on exhibit.

A new piece of equipment has been installed in the home economics laboratory. It is an oven with heat regulator. The girls are eager for a chance to test its efficiency by doing some baking.

Class Debates
Mrs. Thatcher's girls' fourth period vocations class held an interesting debate on Thursday. The question was "Resolved: that domestic service is a better vocation for girls than salesmanship." There were many valuable points brought out on both sides of the question. The girls felt that an important step in the solution of the servant problem would be taken if the mistress of the house would treat her helper with consideration and respect. If a maid could feel that she had an equal social standing with the salesgirl or stenographer, intelligent capable girls would be interested in taking this kind of work, and the quality of service would be much improved.

The girls' fifth period vocations class, under Mrs. Thatcher's direction, held a debate on the question, "Resolved: that mental energy is more valuable than physical energy. The conclusion was that a proper balance of both mental and physical energy is required, for successful accomplishment of important work in the world.

Class Party
The 1c class had a Halloween party at the home of Dora Perkins on Friday evening. All those present wore masquerade costumes and masks which made the affair most interesting. The yard was decorated appropriately for the occasion. In one corner there was a hut made of corn-stalks where a gypsy told fortunes. The chaperones were Mrs. Max Wagner, Mrs. W. M. Wulbrandt, Mrs. C. H. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. R. Perkins, Mrs. W. Ridgeway and Miss Summers, their class teacher.

Class Party
The boys of the 1c class played the boys of the 1b class in baseball game on Thursday. The game was exciting and was backed by their classes. The score was 11-7 in favor of the 1c boys.

5-C Class Assembly
The 5c class, under the direction of Miss Elliott, presented a varied and entertaining program to the student assembly last Friday.

Ether White, the class president, announced the numbers.

The following program was given: Piano solo by Anza Johnson; vocal trio by Alan Barry, Ted Pinnix, and Marvin Johnson; trombone solo by Ernest Smith, accompanied by Alvin Lait; vocal solo by Pauline Graham, accompanied by Florence Hutchens; a short play entitled "The Captain's Wife" by Lillian Schorle, Mary Ellen Robran, and Anza Johnson; vocal solo, "The Gypsy Trail" by Lawrence Patterson, accompanied by Allen Lait; a humorous skit by Esther White, Pauline Graham, Elsie Buhrman, Debra Velarde, Frank McMillen, and Florence Hutchens; a violin solo by Douglass Nichols accompanied by Allen Lait; piano solo by Florence Hutchens.

Art Exhibit
An attractive exhibition of pictures will be held in the Washington building Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5, accompanied by informal talks, explaining the pictures exhibited.

Admission will be 10c. The money so received will be spent in the purchase of pictures for the school. Other schools attending the exhibition, may have the attendance fee credited to them, and select pictures for their own building. Each pupil in the Frances E. Willard School will be given an opportunity of attending the exhibit if he so desires. Last year the school was able to purchase seven fine prints, and received in addition a prize picture offered to the school having the largest attendance.

The exhibition is under the auspices of the Colonial art company.

PARENT TEACHERS

John Muir
The carnival held by the P.-T. A. of the John Muir school Friday evening was a success both socially and financially. Cafeteria supper was served, also candy and lemonade. Fish pond and fortune telling booths were decorated in keeping with the day. A good program was enjoyed as follows:

Selections by Meody Six; reading, Joyce Wentworth; vocal solo, Miss Grimshaw, accompanied by Miss Hulsick; piano, Mary Anna Deaver; play, "The Tragedy of Uncle Tom," (based on Uncle Tom's Cabin), characters of the play were, "Calla Lilly Subertta White," Miss Marie Seibert; "Dew Drop Johnson," Ethel Brock; "Snow Ball Black," Dorothy Reuther; "Pink Jewel Smith," Nellie Broomell; "Sambo Alexander," Mary Allison; George William Green, Kathryn Ryan; "Mumbelle," Columbine; Florence Fink; "Rufus Rastus Jones," Linda Mueller; "Mrs. Rufus Rastus" (Polly Primrose Jones), Lila Galbraith; "Mary Opal Saria," Dorothy Houston; "Navajo Dremo," John Phillips Brown, Daisy Scott.

The association wishes to thank the following for their generous donations: Scott and Sternke (ice distributors), Carter's Grocery company (Tustin); Gerard brothers, Hill and son, Fire Chief Luxembourg and his men; Lowell school, Lincoln school, Barr Lumber company, Mrs. McKay, Melody Six orchestra, Johnson Hadden, Tracy Dilly, Clarence Eddy, Donald Belther, William Mottlay, Allen Lait).

Smart and Final, Boston Meat market and the Excelsior Creamery, which so kindly gave rates.

SPURGEON
Kindergarten Club
An enthusiastic group of teachers gathered in the kindergarten room of the Spurgeon school Monday afternoon a first week of the first meeting of the year of the Primary Kindergarten club of Santa Ana.

The musical part of the program was given by two very talented youngsters, the little Misses Collins, from Anaheim. These twin sisters not only sang but gave several interesting readings. Miss Hazel Bemus, art supervisor of Santa Ana schools, delighted the group with a resume of some of her experiences in the Islands this past summer when she had the unique experience of being an "educator from the mainland." Not only did she present a fascinating picture of Hawaii and its life but also gave a very humorous side, as well.

Superintendent J. A. Cranston, always welcomed as a speaker by the club, gave some of the high lights of a recent superintendents' meeting at which Superintendent Will C. Wood reviewed the growth of education in California for over a period of 40 years and forecast something of what we may expect to evolve in the future. This year, he said, three educational schools for parents have been started in this state and more are to be organized.

A social time with refreshments closed a most enjoyable afternoon. The club is presided over this year by Miss Alice Grimshaw. Other officers are Miss Martha Belle Pugh, vice president; Miss Linda Mueller, secretary; Miss Doris Schenk, treasurer; Miss Fannie Hasty, historian. Chairman of committees are: Program, Mrs. Green; publicity, Miss Mildred Morrow; music, Miss Florence Hulsick; book, Miss Martha Wulrick; hospitality, Mrs. Vivian Huffman; legislative, Miss Minnie Penman.

ARTESIA

The second baseball team won a victory from the Roosevelt baseball team last Monday the score being 10 to 9.

The first team of baseball at Artesia beat McKinley school last Thursday by a score of 14 to 9.

The teachers of Artesia school are being instructed in Spanish every Tuesday afternoon, by their principal, Edith M. Ritter.

McKinley's first team played Artesia's first team, last Tuesday. It was a very exciting game. The game ended with the score of 14 to 9 in favor of Artesia school.

Glee Club
The Glee club sang at Ketter's cafe last Friday for the Realty board. There were 30 members present. In the club there are forty members. The songs were "Star Daisies," "Algerian Lullaby," "Slumber" and "Sandman."

Miss McIntire was leader as she is the music teacher. Hazel for elementary grades division.

Clum Meeting
At a meeting of the 5-M. Speakwell club under Miss Mann's direction, interesting talks were given by chairmen of committees on the study of the "Odyssey." The adventures of the hero were related from the point of view at Athens, goddess of wisdom, and of Odysseus, the hero. Two dialogues were presented, one between Odysseus and his mother in the land of the dead and one between Odysseus and his swine herd, Eumeus, on the return of the hero to Ithaca. The Speakwell club is living up to its name and marked benefit should result from its meeting.

Spanish Course
Spanish 5-C classes are learning how to form questions and commands. This conversational part of the Spanish course is perhaps more valuable than any work that could be presented. Spanish 6 classes have just written some original playlets which they hope to present in assembly sometime in the future.

American Education
American Education week is the week beginning November 7. The purpose of this week is to acquaint the public and more especially the parents of the pupils with the work and needs of the schools. The students have invited the parents of the seventh grade pupils to visit the school on Monday, November 8, eighth grade parents on Tuesday, November 9, and ninth grade parents on Wednesday, November 10. They plan to have the parents see them doing the regular work in a regular way.

JULIA LATHROP

Wednesday, a student body assembly under the direction of Miss Deane and Miss Pearl Nicholson, was held at Julia Lathrop union high school. The program following the plan for "No Cosmetics" week presented a clever little skit written by the students and a drill by the Boy Scouts. Following these contributions by the students, Roland Dye, scout executive of Orange county, gave a worthwhile talk to the students on "Men Who Are Trained." Mr. Dye related some of his own war experiences dealing with the subject and gave examples of scouts who become "men who are trained."

At a short assembly later in the day, Mrs. R. E. McArthur, coun-

Now by new process it is available in U. S. for first time.

Natural Yeasts, Vitamines, Minerals
Agmel is a pleasant uncooked syrupy food, rich in vitamins, minerals and yeasts which rebuild sick tissues so that failing organs again function with glowing strength. Agmel is also laden with Agavose, a form of sweet found only in the Magney, which is readily assimilated and creates a healthy, natural, overcomes disease. Doctors recommend Agmel.

FULLERTON, H. B. TO PLAY AGAIN FRIDAY

BILLY
EVANS
Says

OUTSTANDING STARS

In recruiting their players from the colleges, amateurs and minors, the American league has been a trifle more fortunate than the National league in one respect, getting rookies who have later developed into colorful stars.

It would be a difficult matter for the National league to name six players who carried the color and are as popular with the fans as Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, George Sisler, Eddie Collins and Babe Ruth.

The American league has had many more. I simply have selected the above-named six as outstanding.

The fame of these players has done much toward popularizing the American league with the fans. For six years, Babe Ruth has been the biggest figure in baseball, in all probability the most important athlete in the history of the sport from any angle you may care to consider him.

It is impossible to compute what one great star like Ruth means to the prestige of a major league in particular and baseball in general.

INTENTIONAL PASS

The mention of Ruth always brings up the much argued point, the intentional pass.

During the recent world series of seven games, Ruth was walked 11 times.

Unquestionably a great majority of the fans came to the park with the hope of seeing Ruth either knock the ball out of the lot or strike out. Either happening contained a big thrill.

The intentional pass, therefore, was a rather sad handling of the slugging Bambino.

While the intentional pass is, in a sense, the bogabood of baseball, no one appears able to offer a satisfactory solution.

Certainly any scheme that puts it up to the umpires to discriminate between actually pitching to the batsman and intentionally passing him never will meet with the approval of the arbiters.

The job has enough woe as it is.

OPTIMISTIC CUSS

Al Schacht, well known baseball comedian, spent last winter as a realtor in Florida. He invested most of his earnings in three lots on Miami Beach, which for several days was under water as a result of the recent hurricane. The day after the storm, someone asked Al if he had suffered much of a loss as the result of the storm and in his usual optimistic manner, he replied:

"I should say not. That storm was a good break; all the beach lots now have ocean frontage."

TROJANS OUT OF RACE. PLAY AGGIES NOV. 11

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—With second place their most optimistic hope, the Southern California Trojans settle down to work today in preparation to clinch the Pacific Coast championship for the Stanford Cardinals with a victory in Portland, November 11 over the Oregon Aggies.

Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California in a statement last night took exception to articles of the local critics that the Trojans had been outplayed by the Stanford Cardinals in Saturday's game.

"Physical superiority and not mental defeated us Saturday," Coach Jones said. "Intimations that my players were outplayed and out-gamed are absolutely without foundation. I have never coached a team that put up a game fight. I am disappointed that we did not win," Jones continued, "but I have no alibi to offer. My team gave their best and I am satisfied to accept defeat."

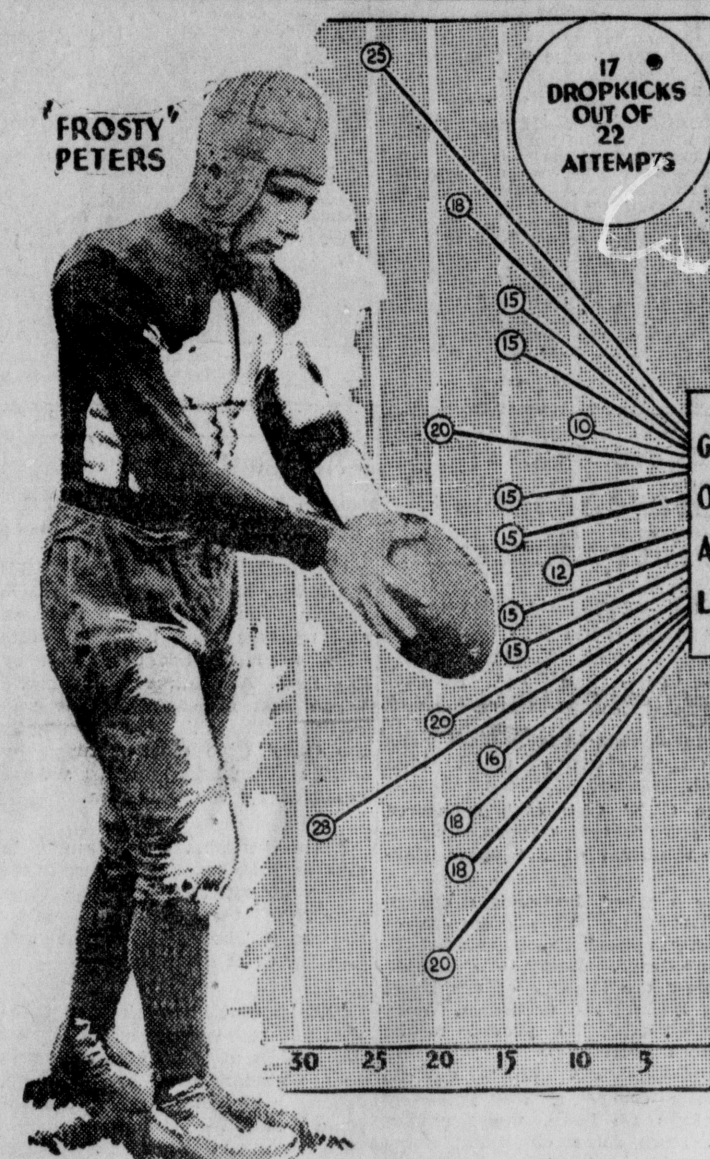

"POP" DISAPPOINTED WITH TEAM'S OFFENSE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 2.—Despite the fact Stanford defeated U. S. C. Saturday, Coach "Pop" Warner is disappointed with the offensive the team presented and Quarterback Post's failure to use several choice trick plays the veteran mentor ordered.

The Cardinals went through a stiff practice last night in preparation for Saturday's game with Santa Clara here.

ILLINOIS STAR HOLDS WORLD RECORD FOR KICKING DROPS

LOCAL GOLFER MAKES DRIVE OF 355 YARDS

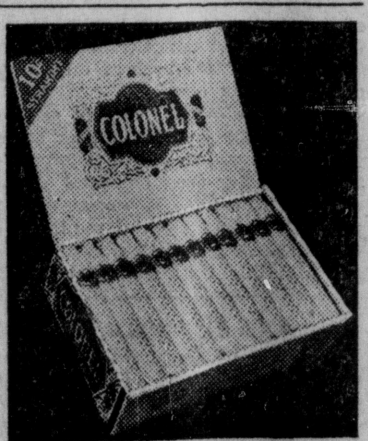

Local golfers today were doffing their hats to E. B. Collier, city councilman from the first ward, and touting him as the champion long-distance driver of Southern California.

During the playing of a foursome at the Santa Ana Country club Saturday afternoon, Collier drove a golf ball 355 yards, believed by local fans to be the longest drive ever made by a golf player in Southern California.

The long shot was made from No. 9 tee and with a regulation driving club. Making a perfect stroke, the councilman smashed the ball squarely on the nose. All of the men watched the ball sail through the air and as they realized that a new and high record had been made Collier's three companions showered their congratulations. The drive was on level ground.

Roland Dye, W. H. Spurgeon and H. B. Van Dien were the other members of the foursome. F. L. Purinton, mayor of Santa Ana, today issued an open challenge to other councilmen of the Southland to beat the record made by Collier.

Of all animals the tiger is the most susceptible to sea-sickness.

"Red" Grange is gone, but "Frosty" Peters is on the job at University of Illinois.

Possibly Peters never will equal the many remarkable feats that Grange scattered over his three years of college football, but there is no denying he is quite a player.

While "Frosty" Peters is regarded by Coach Zupke as one of the best all-round backfield stars that ever graced an Illinois team, his specialty is dropkicking.

Beat Iowa With Toe

Against Iowa, "Frosty" pulled his stuff by scoring two goals from the field. He gave Illinois the winning margin through his kicking. Michigan feared him. However, he failed to trouble Yost's team, largely because he seldom was within distance of the goal. He was kicking from around the 40-yard line most of the time in an effort to score a goal from field. His kicks had the distance but were wide.

While it is generally known that Peters holds the world's record for dropkicking, the facts in the case are here given for the first time, with Peters supplying the information:

Set World Record

"I was a member of the Montana State freshman team when I made 17 successful drop kicks in a game with the Billings (Mont.) Polytechnic institute. "In practice I had been doing some remarkable kicking and the members of the freshman team wondered how many field goals I could make in a regular game if given the opportunity.

"Billings was known to have a weak team. Before the game it was agreed that any time our eleven got within striking distance of the goal I was to attempt a drop kick rather than trying to score a touchdown.

"We scored 64 points on Billings and my 17 drop kicks were responsible for 51 of them. They were all made from distance ranging from 10 to 25 yards.

The Idaho will be in Santa Barbara waters that day and the destroyer squadron will be at sea, it was announced.

N. Y. TO GRANT JACK DEMPSEY RING LICENSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, will be granted a license to fight again in New York, but the commission will not sanction a return bout between Dempsey and Gene Tunney, the new champion.

That information cannot be given officially, but it comes from the same source which decreed that Dempsey could not fight in New York until he had accepted the challenge of Harry Wills, a decree that forced Tex Rickard to take the Tunney-Dempsey fight to Philadelphia.

After a conference last week with Rickard, Dempsey said he was returning to California to resume training and that he would return to the ring if he felt he was in good condition to resume boxing at the end of his preparatory work.

Rickard announced later that Dempsey would apply for a license before he returned to California, but Dempsey left the city without making such a move.

The commission, at its meeting yesterday, explained that a personal appearance by Dempsey was not necessary to file an application for a license and that he could mail an application. The commission, it can be said, resents the inference that it persecuted Dempsey and drove him out of New York to fight Tunney. Unless something happens to deprive him of consideration before six months expire in which Tunney has the legal privilege of ignoring challengers, Jack Sharkey, who dumped Harry Wills into the second round, will be regarded as the official challenger.

Sharkey was the first to file a challenge against Tunney.

Army, Syracuse Sever Relations

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Following a conference between the heads of Syracuse university and West Point, it was agreed to suspend athletic relations between the two institutions for an indeterminate period. The break is believed the result of the football clash between the two college elevens this fall, in which players on both sides were injured.

ANOTHER WALSH

CHARLEY WALSH

The name Walsh continues to play a stellar role in Notre Dame athletics.

Back in 1924, Adam Walsh was captain and center of the Notre Dame team, considered the outstanding eleven in college circles. He is now doing his stuff as a coach on the coast.

In the recent game with Northwestern, which Notre Dame had a hard time winning 6-0, it was Charley Walsh, a brother of Adam, who caught a forward pass for a 50-yard gain, making possible the winning touchdown. He plays end.

S. A. COLLEGE PROTESTS LOST FOOTBALL GAME

A protest of the game which Santa Ana Junior college lost, 31 to 0, at San Bernardino last week is to be made on two counts, it was announced today by McKee Fisk, local faculty representative, who sent a letter to George Wilson, commissioner of men's athletics at San Bernardino, asking that the case be brought before the members of the Southern California Junior college conference.

The forfeiture of the game is not being demanded by Santa Ana. "We appreciate the fact that the victory was decisive for San Bernardino," Fisk said. "However, we want the league rules to be strictly followed. It is for that reason we are protesting."

The protest is based on the playing of Joe Clapp, backfield substitute, who was ineligible because he was carrying only 11 units according to the official eligibility list furnished Santa Ana, whereas 12 units of work are the minimum. The second count is based on the technicality that Santa Ana was not notified who the officials for the game were four days before the game, the time provided in the conference rules.

To have the game declared forfeited will not affect the chances for San Bernardino today. Leaders to take the title San Bernardino is undefeated and the championship will hinge on the outcome of the game between the Gate City and Pasadena this week.

Japanese Loses In Highest Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The U. S. supreme court today denied George S. Kunihiro, Japanese cantaloupe grower of the Imperial valley, California, review of the two suits brought by him and 71 other Japanese against M. O. Coggin company, Lyons Brothers company and many other cantaloupe commission firms, seeking damages under the anti-trust laws.

The suits charged the Japanese lost more than $1,000,000 in 1912 and 1913 through the commission houses' failure to market some of the cantaloupe crop. The suits were dismissed by lower courts on the grounds that the assignments of debts, received by Kunihiro from the other Japanese, did not cover anti-trust cases.

INDIANS OFFER TO THROW OUT 12-6 VICTORY

Referee Admits Error In Blocked Punt Ruling and Second Game Arranged

Fullerton and Huntington Beach high school football teams will meet again on the gridiron, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Fullerton.

Officials of the two schools today had ironed out all difficulties which arose over the league contest last week and had agreed to another game.

Rumors were current after last Friday's affair that a protest would be filed by Huntington Beach over a referee's decision. Coach Harry Sheue of the Seaside announced that the facts in the controversy would be placed before the coaches of the county for decision at a meeting tonight.

Fullerton high school officials, showing a fine spirit of sportsmanship, did not wait for the protest to come before the coaches but took the matter in hand and after conferring with the referee of last week's game, arranged for a new match. The referee, it is understood, admitted having made a mistake in his ruling on a blocked punt behind the Fullerton goal line.

As a result of the decision reached by the two schools no protest will be entered. The encounter played last week will not count on the league record. Fullerton won the game, 12 to 6, after a hard fight. The teams were apparently evenly matched.

Arrangements for the game this week were simplified as Huntington Beach draws a bye on the schedule and Fullerton is scheduled to play Brea. The Brea encounter should be an easy one for the Indians and has been put over until Saturday. Coach "Shorty" Smith probably will use his second team and substitutes in the Brea encounter.

30 Bears to Make Jaunt to Seattle

BERKELEY, Nov. 2.—Coach "Nibs" Price signified his intention today of taking his entire squad of 30 men to Seattle for the Washington game Saturday. This afternoon and tomorrow's practice will decide who will line up against the Huskies. A weak defensive and weaker offensive Bear team does not expect a victory in its only "away from home" game at Seattle.

STUDENTS HEAR OF TRIP MADE BY H. S. HEAD

Principal Means Visits Historical Spots While on Summer Vacation

By ALICE PRATHER
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—"I cannot cover the whole of my summer's trip," said Mr. Means, principal of the Tustin union high school, in his talk to the students. "If I attempted that, it would mean that I would have to cover 100 miles a minute and that is too much even for this generation. I shall principally tell of the experiences in the southern states."

Special stress was laid upon places of historical interest. The first of these was Lincoln's birthplace.

"This log cabin," said Mr. Means, "is enclosed by a rather building to protect it. The cabin itself would not occupy half the space of one of our class rooms. The surroundings were the same as in Lincoln's time and show how few advantages he had in comparison with the boys of modern times."

While going to Mammoth Caves, Mr. Means had to pass over very poor roads which were wide enough for only one car. The roads were made of cobble stones "the shape of one's head" and it took a great deal of time to go from one place to another.

The Mammoth cave was the only cave Mr. Means visited, but there were many others, including the one in which Floyd Collins was entombed. The cave is one mile deep and is said to have been accidentally discovered by a man pursuing a bear which had retreated into the cave.

Within the Mammoth cave were found things of interest. Some of them were the River Styx, in which are found eel-like fish, the frozen Niagara, and September Morn, made of onyx, paths in all directions in which one could easily get lost, and many caverns.

Nashville cemetery, in which are the thousands and thousands of graves, impressed Mr. Means very much. It showed how the "many men gave their lives that the nation might live."

Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Lookout mountain were other interesting points. Mr. Means climbed to the top of Lookout mountain and claims to have lost two or three pounds because of the intense heat. From the top of the peak it is claimed that parts of seven states may be seen.

The weather in the east was very hot and most places there were very poor roads. In Kentucky, Mr. Means said, the red soil produced the very best tobacco "if there is such a thing."

Mr. Means was very much impressed by Tennessee and would have stayed there except for the intense heat and the great number of flies. In Tennessee there were new homes, new bridges, very good roads, and wonderful trees which made one think of being in a park.

"The southern people were all very kind and helpful but there is still the feeling between the negro and the whites in the South."

Girl Is Winner Of Contest For Float Design

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—The winner in the contest for the best design for the float in the Armistice day parade at Santa Ana was won by Claudyne Hone. The first prize of $10 was offered by the Fullerton chamber of commerce for the best design of a float presented by the high school. The winning design portrayed the Goddess of Liberty. This design will be carried out and used in the Armistice day parade, representing the Fullerton chamber of commerce.

Constance Stevens won the second prize of $5. Her design portrayed peace as the queen. The contestants included Ruth Nonemaker, Claudyne Hone, Josephine Oswald, Carolyn White, Isabel Plummer, Marion Marsden, Helen Long, Maxine Hammer, Lois May Johnson, Betty Enfield, Constance Stevens and Raymond Clever.

RANCH CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT GARDEN GROVE

By RUTH ANDRES
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—Six students, five boys and one girl, have signed up for the Ranchers club, which is being organized by Miss Dodson. The club will meet today to organize and elect officers.

Raymond Ellis, who has charge of farm bureau club work in Orange county, will meet with the club November 16 to help organize the work. They will discuss housing, feeding, breeding and marketing of poultry and animals. The farm bureau is going to co-operate with the club and give them charts on which to keep their records.

The club will be run on a business basis. Every member will engage in making his business pay. County contests, such as egg laying and rabbit breeding, will be held soon.

All those who are intending to join the club are now engaged in raising poultry and rabbits. Kenneth Faulkner has some Blue Belgian rabbits which are bringing him a profit.

Lucille Henry is raising chickens and pigeons. Floyd Newman is raising rabbits, pigeons and canaries. Albert Van Delden is raising canaries.

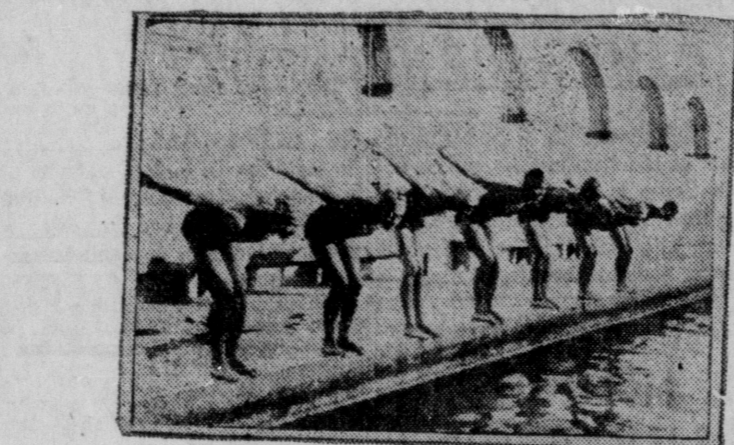

Due to increased cost of labor and of transport, the price of firewood has gone up 60 per cent in Buchanan, and there is believed to be a hard winter in store for the poor of the Rumanian capital.

TID BITS FROM TUSTIN CLASSES

By JAMES PARKS
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—A new club has been organized in the school under the name of "Rough Necks." The "Rough Necks" are organized to promote school spirit at games and all other school activities. The club's uniform is a gold shirt with purple sleeves. On the days of games the "Rough Necks" head all serpents and parade through the halls making everyone join in and yell. They have large wooden paddles to emphasize their noise and aid them in chasing stubborn boys on the bleachers to yell. In assemblies they bunch up and yell. Thus school spirit is stirred throughout.

Members of the junior play cast for "Cappy Ricks" are practicing two periods every day and three afternoons a week after school until 5 or 6 o'clock. The date of the play is set for December 3.

The program consisted of numbers by the Advanced Girls Glee club, vocal solos by Wayne Rinnella, Everett Pearce, Charlotte Browne, and Junita Sears, accompanied by Miss Ida Thorman. Ruth Tantlinger gave a reading, an impersonation of an Englishman. After the program, pumpkin pie and cider were served.

Four students of Tustin union high school spent many hours yesterday in fighting the forest fire which started at Modjeska's Home. The four students were Richard Harris, Randolph Carrillo, Milo Stevens, and Robert Harris. Due to the high wind, the fire spread rapidly and endangered quite a few lives and much private property.

WOMEN STUDENTS IN POLITICS

Congressman Swing recently stated that the women of America were taking a much greater interest in the affairs of the government than the men.

That this interest is just a novelty and will wear off, is the belief of many, yet it is a known fact that the realization of the great responsibility of the voter seems to be prevalent among the women and that they will continue their good work is the wish of all.

The present high school and college girls will be the important factors in our country that will tend to make this enthusiasm and realization of responsibility among the women a lasting thing.

The study of history revealing the fall of great nations because of the indifference of the people, is sure to make a great impression upon the students when they learn how easily these downfalls might have been avoided.

Current events now play a great part in the curriculum of the schools. These discussions of current happenings infuse interest in governmental affairs.

Conduction of school affairs and school government in which all take a part is sure to mean greater intelligence in parliamentary law. It helps to make the pupil think out situations and conditions clearly and for themselves.

The habit of voting and carrying on public affairs is formed in school and will not easily be thrown aside.

Women's suffrage, which is so new to our women, is sure to be an aid to our government; for women are showing their worth as good thinkers.

It is now up to the young women of America to bring about greater interest in governmental affairs.

National Park Is Subject for Tustin Lecture

By LOUISE GRISET
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—Mr. Means gave an illustrated talk on Yellowstone National park to the first year English classes October 29.

The first year classes have been studying Burroughs' "Camping With the President," which is an account of the author's trip to Yellowstone park with Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Means took the pictures on his trip last summer. These he showed on Friday with a general geological explanation and showed many pictures, the most interesting of which were of bears, geysers, beaver dams and scenic views.

He made his talk more entertaining by including humorous incidents of his trip.

'Revelesque' At Grove School Is Very Successful

By BESSIE GARDNER
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—Carmen, the great opera, was the greatest feature of the Revelesque, a vaudeville program, given under the auspices of the student body of Garden Grove union high school.

The Girls' Glee club sponsored this superb, tempestuous, stupendous rendition of the opera Carmen.

The masked Romancers opened the Revelesque. This orchestra of mystery caused much interest in the audience. Every one wanted to know the identity of the blond sheik leading the orchestra. When he unmasked, he proved to be Kenneth Harris.

Following the music by the mystery orchestra, the Harmony Wreckers De Luxe, the Argonauts, sang some delightful numbers, assisted by "The Blockhead Unique," in a trombone solo.

The Trysting Place, a one-act farce, was presented by the dramatics class. "Great" talent was shown in the presentation.

Dumber than the Dumbest, featuring Mr. Algernon Christopher Sap, proved how positively dumb some people can be. This act was put on by the "Hi-Y" club.

The last act of the vaudeville was presented by the Girls' league. The pygmies, were a puzzle in anthropology in subnormal antics.

Says His Use of Black-Draught Has Helped to Keep Him in Good Health

Semiway, Ky.—One of Semiway's best-known citizens, Mr. W. F. Spicer, is an enthusiastic advocate of Theodor's Black-Draught, which he has used since boyhood. He has been prominent in local public affairs for many years and, as sheriff, held the highest office within the gift of the people of this (McLean) county.

"I am in good health and I believe I owe a great deal to the use of Theodor's Black-Draught," says Mr. Spicer. "I certainly can recommend it."

"I am 50 years old, and when I was a boy we used Black-Draught in our family. My mother made a tea of it and gave it to us."

"I use Black-Draught for headache and indigestion which come from a torpid liver. It cleanses the liver better than any other medicine I have ever seen. I keep it and use it and believe by going so I save myself sickness. Black-Draught is good."

Many men and women have "grown up" with Theodor's Black-Draught. For more than eighty years, Black-Draught has been used with success in the treatment of common torpid liver ailments, such as indigestion, constipation, headache.

Argonaut Notes From Garden Grove

By GRACE JILES
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—R. F. Mitchell, county superintendent, teachers and trustees were honored guests at a 6 o'clock banquet given by the P-T-A. Thursday evening.

The best of entertainment was supplied through the evening by the Girls' Glee club, readings by Lucille Shackelford and several numbers by the orchestra.

Dramatics should be taught in every school, because it benefits the actors individually, was the topic of a very interesting talk given by Rosemary Thomason at the last meeting of the Jungle club.

"Real scientists work with theories, but believe only in facts" was the subject stressed in a talk given on the student body by Dr. Dean, professor of chemistry, at the assembly last Wednesday.

Members of the Girls' Glee club are very proud to announce the fact that their new costumes, consisting of white linen dresses and blue ties, are completed and will hereafter be worn at all affairs where they are to sing.

Thirty girls, out of 49 members of the Girl Reserves, are intending to work for rings. As rings are the highest honor in the Girl Reserve organization, every girl is trying her best to attain this high honor.

Miss Dodson, with the aid of a few studious boys, is organizing a new club. The name will be Ranchers' club and its purpose to learn raising of animals, poultry and cattle in the proper way, and on paying basis.

They will co-operate with the farm bureau and intend to enter in the pig, rabbit, calf and chicken contest.

Pupils Get Out Paper Without Teacher's Help

By MYRA BRAGG
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—Members of the Journalism class have been working and laboring over the "High Life," which they have worked on the past few days by themselves.

Miss Pumphrey has been absent from school. The students, on the whole, got along very well, although their different ideas clashed, they entered into small debates, but after everything was decided, and all assignments straightened out, the pupils bent again to their task of getting the stories for the school paper ready on time.

Many mistakes may have appeared in the paper, but nevertheless, the students of the Journalism class are proud of themselves on doing the best they could.

Most all classes are very apt to go wild with joy if the teacher is absent, but not so with the Journalism class, for they expected to go right on working.

However, it was not only work, for the pupils enjoyed the work of "fixing the paper" just like they wanted to.

ACADEMIC AND VOCATIONAL STUDIES ARE COMBINED IN ALL-EMBRACING CURRICULUM

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Nov. 2.—If a high school limits its curriculum to purely academic subjects, it doesn't offer the students the full advantage of an education that will train them to meet the conditions in life, it is believed by principal Louis Plummer, of the Fullerton union high school and a strong advocate of vocational training for students who will end their school education when they are awarded their diploma.

The year's program at the Fullerton union high school revolves about the dual phase of study in academic work and vocational work.

"In educational circles, the pendulum is still on the academic swing," Plummer said. "I had thought that the swing would begin to return. The reason that the academic phase is emphasized is that the universities are requiring academic work."

Not all students should go to college, Plummer said.

The $1,000,000 plant at Fullerton high school, through vocational training courses, is opening the way for students who do not intend to go on to college to prepare in special lines. The shop courses, in printing, forging and wood work, and the artisan courses in pottery, and jewelry making taught by Glen Lukens, are some of those offered.

Students intending to go on to college are able to take all academic subjects, on the other hand, to furnish them with the foundation for their college work.

The enrollment at the Fullerton high school is 933 day students, figures given out by Principal Plummer indicated. That is a slight increase over last year. In many respects, this year the students have shown a more enthusiastic interest in the activities of the school than in any year previous, it was said. Much interest is being shown in the new fencing and archery courses open to girls, under the instruction of Miss Florence Randall.

Such "foibles" as fencing and other unique sports give the girls the chance to attain physical development—and they like it, too.

"We are anxious for the development of the students physically, as well as mentally," Principal Plummer stated. "The $134,000 gymnasium completed a year ago is being taken full advantage of in our physical educational program."

Fullerton football teams, coached by "Shorty" Smith, always a contender for the championship in football, will play off the protest game with Huntington Beach Friday at Fullerton to decide this year's title holders.

One of the reasons for the splendid school spirit is the success of the football team, Plummer said. The student and faculty leaders have done much to arouse the students' spirit. Two rallies have been held. Martin DeVries, faculty representative of the students, and Kenneth Gardner, student body president, have exerted a beneficial leadership.

No problems of dress, cosmetics or such like, are serious among the girls, due to the supervision of the Girls' league which has taken all such matters in hand. The girls are allowed one day each week, Wednesday, when they may wear their civilian clothes, but on other days they must wear the uniform blue and white middie. Miss Evelyn Harvey is president of the Girls' League.

Overstrain Often Disturbs Bodily Functions

HURRY, worry and overwork throw a heavy strain on the bodily machinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to be overtaxed and become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste is inclined to give rise to a dull, tired feeling and, often, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is sometimes shown by burning or scanty passages. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills, a tested stimulant diuretic. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Sam Houston

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

In the same year—1827—that Houston was indicted in Kentucky for shooting his adversary in a duel, he was elected governor of Tennessee. Houston's majority over his rivals was 12,000. He was a few months past 34 when elected.

In January, 1829, Houston was married to Miss Eliza Allen, who came from a prominent Tennessee family.

Their honeymoon had hardly ended when Mrs. Houston suddenly returned to her parents. Both were silent on the cause of the breach.

Not until after Houston's death did his widow make public that after their marriage Houston learned she loved someone else. After their separation Houston resigned as governor and, with some friends, started south on a flatboat to rejoin his old Indian friends, the Cherokees.

Hopeful—If you develop your chest and all the muscles, the absence of a full bust does not count as any lack in your figure. Deep breathing helps much, and so do any of the sports that bring the chest, shoulders, and muscles of the back into activity.

F. V. V.—Apply hot, wet cloths to the places where the blackheads are, so that you can open the pores, and massage with a cleansing cream until the impacts are softened. Hot, soapy water may be used then to remove all soiled cream, and followed with a soothing cream for a few minutes' treatment.

Close pores with very cold water or by rubbing a small piece of ice over the skin. Give this treatment several times a week, and be sure to bathe all over every day to keep all pores working freely over the whole body.

Greenwich.—The temperature of the bath for hot weather is a matter of individual needs. Whichever refreshes you the most is the kind that you should take. There are a great many people who need a hot bath to relax after being over-heated, while this would exhaust others after the fatigue incident to exercising for hours in the heat. Try both temperatures and note the results. Never take a cold bath while you are overheated. It should be at least of tepid heat, and either temperature should be followed with very cold water at the end of the bath.

Miss N. H.—A foot bath in which there is plenty of Epsom salts will always give temporary relief to burning and swollen feet. The condition that causes this calls for a doctor, as there is some trouble with the organs of elimination. It can easily be a sluggish functioning of these organs, but enough to upset and poison the whole system.

B. C. L.—Massage the calves until you reduce the extra fat from them. Exercises in which you use these muscles will also help. Blue Eyes—Raise your arms and bend them at the elbows, bring finger tips to edge of each shoulder; and while holding them in that position rotate the shoulders in a circular movement. This will make the shoulders and back of your neck supple, so you will have less trouble to hold yourself and keep from slumping at your work.

Zane L.—If you forward a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall be glad to mail you the formula for the cream.

Queer Quirks of
-NATURE-

IS HE STANDING UP OR SITTING DOWN?

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n
One of the strangest sights with which Nature provides us is a convention of a multitude of murre. This bird is standing up when he looks as if he were sitting down. They have no particular home and live in crowds on rocks along the Pacific coast.

Since they make no nest one egg is about all the parents can attend to. It can be found on a shelf of rock and the parents take turns keeping it warm. Since the meat of this bird does not taste good hunters leave the murre alone.

It would seem the murre can walk about as easily as you can when your feet are tied but these webbed feet make great propellers and a stiff tail serves as a first class rudder.

When a bird returns after being scared from her rocky ledge she will go poking around turning over

one egg and then another until at last she tucks her own beneath her wing. How do you account for that?

She will pick out her own chick

from the sea. Now how do you account for that?

Beware of the Wiley Vendor of Antiques

By JAMES BLAUVELT
For NEA Service

The history of furniture is the history of civilization. The household articles with which man has surrounded himself through the ages have reflected his taste and his interests at each period of his progress.

It will always be possible to judge a household by the furniture it gathers around it. Not only because impeccable taste will reflect credit on the home maker, but also because it materially adds to the enjoyment of the home, is it necessary for the mistress of the household to study furniture before she makes her choice.

Architectural line is fundamentally important in furniture. Wherever possible, it must follow to some extent the architectural type of the house itself, and the structure of the room. Harmony of line and color and scale is far more important than a strict adherence to "periods."

Know Your History

However, it is best to learn something about the historic periods in furniture before you begin to combine them. The marks which distinguish periods may be seen in the shape of the backs and legs of chairs and tables in the ornamental detail, in the carving and metal accessories, and in the upholstery and wood.

We know that before the Renaissance there was no upholstery, and furniture was massive and crude and somewhat uncomfortable. Later, cane seats and backs and ornamental carving were introduced in an effort toward luxury and beauty.

With Louis XIII. velvets and tapestries and damasks came into use for upholstery chairs and couches and for beds. Each successive period is an increasing feeling for beauty and comfort in household goods.

After gaining a general knowledge of periods and tradition, the home maker needs a few practical hints on the choice of individual pieces.

First of all, there is the question of woods. Oak, cherry and yew—those designed to peek seductively from pockets are almost man size, even though they may be of very fine linen instead of printed silk.

A stately Georgian cabinet that serves as bookcase, desk and chest of drawers, especially useful in an apartment or small house, where space must be conserved. Interior by W. and J. Sloane.

Styles and materials must be blended intelligently, according to a knowledge of history and of art. Thus, you will not hesitate to use a Chinese lacquered cabinet in a Queen Anne room, if you know that the Queen Anne period actually introduced Chinese furnishings into England and Holland, as a result of the opening of the great Oriental trade routes.

Lacquer may be adapted to many types of rooms, because its rich color and design add piquancy and variety, without interfering with the general scheme.

"Sets" of furniture have, happily, gone the way of many conventional, ugly things. Even dining rooms are being furnished with miscellaneous pieces, and are benefiting greatly by the innovation.

The arrangement of furniture is almost as important as its selection. The decorator must first draw a sketch, to scale, of the room he is working on. Then he must mark the large spaces and decide what heavy pieces shall go into them. The smaller pieces then can be grouped more easily.

pieces, leaving the other side almost empty.

Place large articles of furniture in relation to the architectural lines of the room. For example, in a long, narrow room, place your davenport along the long side of the room, rather than crosswise in the center, where it would cut the room in two. Of course, if the room is very large, or almost square, this crosswise placing would be correct.

Antiques? Be Careful! A heavy davenport placed against the shorter wall is liable to overbalance the other end of the room.

And now about antiques! Do not fall into the snare that unscrupulous dealers are setting daily for American buyers everywhere. Remember that only a fraction of the "antiques" sold in America deserve the name, and that it takes an expert to distinguish the real from the spurious, however, are to be desired. In fact, I consider a good reproduction far superior to an original, unless the original is in a state of exceptionally good preservation, or is a family heirloom, in which latter case, of course, its sentimental value is incalculable.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites were now down stairs, and Clowdy said, "Aw shucks, who cares for any little setting hen that couldn't hurt you much?" But Coppy who had fought the chick replied, "Of fighting I am sick. The next time that I see a hen I simply will not touch."

The sound of footsteps warned the band that someone must be near at hand, and as they scampered out of sight a farmer's voice broke out. "Here, bossy. Come on lazy cow, I'm ready for my milking now." Of course the Tinymites all wondered what 'twas all about.

They peeked and saw a funny cow. Then heard the farmer's dog "bow, wow." Of course you know there always is a dog around a farm. They help bring home the cows at night, and see that everything's all right. I guess their barking sort of keeps the cows away from harm.

The farmer then sat on a stool. The cow's tail swished to keep him cool, while Mister Farmer milked away until his pail was filled. And then he led the cow away and said, "That's all I'll do today." When he had left the barn, of course the Tinymites were thrilled.

Said Clowdy Tinymite, "I think I'll have to have a dandy drink." And then he rushed up hurriedly to where the bucket stood. "You mustn't steal," wee Coppy cried. "Besides, the farmer's just outside." But Clowdy, rather stubborn, had made up his mind he would.

Alas, alas. He reached the top. Then in the bucket went kerplop. To keep from getting soaked, the other Tinymites ran away. But when they heard poor Clowdy shout, they came right back to pull him out. And now most likely Clowdy knows that stealing doesn't pay.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

CANDIDATES ON CLUB PROGRAM: FITTS ABSENT

ORANGE, Nov. 2.—Buron Fitts, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, was unable to be present at a meeting of the Woman's club yesterday afternoon. It was held at 8 o'clock and pressing business in the northern part of the state caused the cancellation of the speaking engagement at the last moment.

Initiative and referendum propositions on the election ballot being voted on today were discussed by A. M. Story, secretary of the county board of supervisors. Judge W. H. Thomas and Judge James L. Allen. Stanley stresses the necessity of co-operation, education and legislation to protect the farming industry in the United States. He asserted that industries such as railroads that give more to the government, but that the agriculture industry is being neglected in legislation.

Judge Thomas talked on amendments six and nine. Judge Allie spoke on amendments one and 11.

The regular business meeting of the club preceded the talks. Mrs. A. E. Schooley, chairman of the committee on meetings, announced plans for the carnival of nations to be held in the Woman's clubhouse November 4, 5 and 6. Other committee chairmen to give reports "were Mrs. H. O. Ehlers, Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. J. P. Keller. A baby show on Saturday afternoon for all babies under three years was announced. Management will be by popular opinion and will be based on appearance and behavior. It was announced.

Mrs. A. D. Burkett was appointed

Several piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Gilbert Warren following the business meeting of the club. Mrs. D. G. Wettlin presided as chairman of the program.

Men resemble the gods in nothing so much as in doing good to their fellow-creatures.

GETTING THE JOB DONE

The next three weeks comprise the most critical period in the history of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin. During that period, the question as to whether the chest will survive will be determined. Statistics from all over the country show that the third year of the chest, as a rule, is the hardest. If the third year proves successful, the campaigns thereafter are likely to be easier.

This is our third year. This is the critical campaign.

Because of the importance of maintaining the Community Chest, the citizens of Santa Ana should give the project strong support. There should be a strengthening of effort, a widening of the subscription area.

Just at present, the officers of the chest are perfecting the organization for the drive. Division managers, team captains and team members are being selected. The response should be immediate. The plan of organization is such that the work is well distributed; nobody is asked to give any great amount of time and energy to the work.

The drive comes but once a year. If it were not for the fact that we have a chest for Santa Ana and Tustin, we would have half a dozen drives, each requiring a separate organization, each calling upon the same groups for workers and each getting much the same workers as are to be found year after year in the chest organization.

The job must be done. To do it, the co-operation of scores of men and women is necessary, in the drive organization, and of 3000 or 4000 in making subscriptions.

The job must be done, and it is everybody's job to see that it is done.

SMALLER, BETTER NEWSPAPERS

"Newspapers have gone about as far as they are going to go in the direction of size, silliness and vulgarity," said Earle Martin, editor of the Cleveland Times, addressing a women's college club.

"A strong reaction has set in towards reducing the size and improving the quality. Adolph Ochs has already made a start toward reducing the size of the New York Times. He says the paper is so bulky people cannot read it. I think the emphasis is beginning to shift from feature back to news again.

"But to speak of action and reaction as the swing of a pendulum back and forth does not seem to me quite right, either. I think we travel more on a spiral. We come back, but always on a little higher ground. We will continue to have feature, and continue to have news. But both will be a little shorter and a little better.

"The life of a morning paper is only about 20 to 25 minutes, that of an evening paper perhaps a little less. The man who used to spend half of a Sunday on his paper is gone. He's out riding around in a car. He has less time to spend on his paper and wants to get more out of it in the time he has.

"The newspaper with its popular features alike all over the country is standardized like the car. And like the car, it has begun to build on that foundation of standardization and interchangeable parts an individual structure and finish of better quality."

What Mr. Martin wants to see, apparently, is newspapers developing along the lines of better and longer service—or at least more ground covered per hour, with less offense from rattles and jars, and more miles to the gallon. The small city papers are nearer this ideal now than the metropolitan papers.

DETECTIVES OF SCIENCE

It seemed to many people an unwarranted piece of scientific imagination when biologists took a piece of skull and a thigh bone found in a gravel bed in Java, reconstructed the original owner of those bones and named him "pithecanthropus erectus," meaning "erect ape-man." The creature they thus bodied forth was considered as having lived a million years ago, representing a collateral branch of the stock from which, according to evolutionists, the present human race developed. He was a sort of distant uncle. And many have insisted that he was wholly imaginary.

Now, 34 years later, another Dutchman, delving in Javan gravel, has found a complete skull which is exactly like the artificial skull built up from the old fragment, and exactly what the scientists said it would be if a skull of that species were ever found.

Score a victory for science, then, whether those old "ape men" have anything to do with us or not. Scientific knowledge today is extremely accurate. When it is reinforced by the scientific imagination—"imagination," be it remembered, is the "image-building" faculty—it often accomplishes marvels, whether working backward or forward. Many an archeologist and biologist is a veritable Sherlock Holmes.

EUROPE GETS TOGETHER

A miracle seems to be happening in Europe. The quarrelling nations of that continent are drawing together. There are even business alliances among old enemies, and there is serious talk of a "European economic confederation."

Americans do not overlook the fact that a great deal of this co-operation is inspired by fear or dislike of America. There is much anti-American feeling.

It would be foolish to say that America doesn't mind that. No country wants others leagued against it, whether for war or business. Yet the situation represents an improvement. Europe had better get together, even against us, commercially, than not to get together at all.

FRENCH SALUTATION

We may have to yield yet to the French form of salutation, after all our ridicule of men kissing men. Listen to this:

French doctors are protesting against the introduction of the American handshake in France, on the ground that it is "unsanitary." Half the diseases prevalent in Paris, they declare, could be controlled if it were not for the spreading of germs by contact of hands. The Gaulic kiss on both cheeks, they say, is much more sanitary, as well as more decorous, than our "pump-handle" fashion, because it is easier to keep the cheeks clean than the hands.

If men must shake hands, the French physicians say, let them do it with silk gloves. The silk, besides safeguarding the wearer against disease germs, "establishes a sympathetic current" which is more friendly than the bare contact of palm with palm.

All right. Americans can stand the silk gloves better than the cheek-kissing. But either will come hard the first hundred years.

Mussolini thinks the Italians are the greatest people in the world, but don't know enough to vote.

San Diego Wars on Speeders

San Diego Union

Depressed over our city's mortuary record of eight deaths from automobile accidents in four weeks, and of 33 so far for the year, we penned certain comments accordingly, but before the editorial could appear in print still another death was added and a second momentarily expected, so seriously injured was the victim. Simultaneously, however, the front page of the same issue, yesterday's, carries black-type declaration of war against the potential killers on our streets and highways. The town isn't lying down and taking mayhem and manslaughter and liking it. The police are out after the speeders, and the magistrates wait to send them to jail.

"Go and get 'em!" orders the chief.

"And bring 'em to me," says the judge.

So there's a ray of cheer athwart our civic humiliation, and the resolve to put a stop to multiple killings sounds so stern and sincere that all possible or probable future victims may seize on the hope that the resolve is not for a day or week, but that the good work of suppression will not relax, even in the intervals between the printing of casualty totals.

The results of the police chief's orders to his men to go get 'em suggests how bad the conditions were before, since it appears that violators were that plentiful that arrests were made every few minutes. Nor will the culprits find things pleasant when they appear in police court. Only the day before Judge Chambers had certified boys from 15 to 17 years of age to the juvenile court for excessive speed, one of them charged with 47 miles in the residence district.

"And next Tuesday," declares the judge, "when I leave the court all those speeders who were traveling more than 25 miles an hour across intersections will be inside the bars looking out and counting up the cost of their speed mania."

Quite pertinently also, Chief of Police Patrick issues a warning to probable victims as well. "Heads up, look where you are going, and do not jaywalk," he warns pedestrians. "Persons caught jaywalking will be brought to court and dealt with summarily." The campaign is by no means confined to intersection speeders. The boulevard non-stoppers will do well to stop at boulevards, whether or not both painted pavements and signs are there to remind them. According to the new traffic ordinance both painted pavements and signs are not now necessary for conviction.

The public safety committee of San Diego furthermore has taken cognizance of the need of a larger patrol force to cope with reckless drivers and has opened a campaign of its own to back up the chief by securing a motorcycle patrol adequate to cover the entire city.

Auto deaths are heaviest when arrests for speeding drop, the committee ascertained. When the speeders are haled into court, the auto toll drops. Or, that is, lives are saved. With enough officers to enforce the speed laws rigidly, the toll could be kept down to the minimum.

That is the need exactly—war against the killers, but one that knows no armistice.

Court As Participant in Crime

Fresno Republican

Just as often as judges do it, there should be protest against the legal perversion of protecting the rights of law breakers by restoring to them the means of breaking the law.

Judges keep on doing it. Possibly they are right, under the law. If so, in the language of Shakespeare, "the law is a donkey." We reserve the privilege of not believing that the law is a donkey.

Just the other day in San Francisco a very learned judge restored to a moonshiner a still. There was no question raised that the man was a moonshiner. There was no question raised that the still was a still. There was no pretense that this still was used for the purpose of making liquor for sacramental or medicinal purposes, for which of course permits could have been obtained.

The only showing was that the wrong kind of a court paper had been used in making the raid on the offending moonshiner.

It is this sort of "technic" that continues to make the courts laughable in the eyes of laymen.

The court might well have the right to hang up by the thumbs a policeman who would make an arrest of a burglar in an irregular way.

But for a court to pat a burglar on the back, restore to him his jimmy and his brass knuckles, just because the arresting officer did not have the right kind of a paper in his pocket, is a perversion of the mechanism of justice.

ANEMIA NOT INHERITED—BUT LIABILITY IS

Although much suggestive material has appeared in medical literature during the year relative to pernicious anemia, the exact cause of this disease has not been definitely established. Several investigators have shown the importance of a proper amount of iron in the diet; others have indicated the significance of vitamin A and have suggested the use of liver and kidneys in the diet to provide this substance.

It is understood also that cod liver oil, orange juice and fresh vegetables are important accessories in the control of this disease.

Most of the evidence that is available indicates that heredity or a family tendency does not play a very important part in the occurrence of this disease.

One German investigator found 24 instances in which at least two cases were seen in the same family. Other investigators pointed out that the conditions which were likely to cause the disease in one member of the family would, no doubt, affect other members to a greater extent than they might affect other persons.

Two Pennsylvania physicians have recorded a series of cases that occurred in a family living in a small town in the northwestern part of that state.

A careful record of the family has been maintained and shows that anemia was first noted in one of the male ancestors who died in 1844. Among his descendants there have been 16 cases in all, with seven deaths diagnosed as pernicious anemia.

These cases are interesting as showing possible influence of heredity in the development of this disease. It is the modern conception that the disease itself is not inherited, but that there is a form of body structure and function which is inherited and which is responsible for such cases.

How to Pare Our Cheese

Fresno Republican

We have been denouncing "waste" for many years, nay for many centuries. And we will continue to have opportunity to denounce it.

But the "waste" of the sort that "Elimination of Waste Week" is planned to prevent is something that is new, with our present era.

This is the elimination of waste that gets its value from organization and utilization of machinery, rather than from merely individual attention.

Most of us intend not to waste things of value. But the most of us do continue to waste. We waste because of inattention, that is, the failure to keep up consistently good intentions. We waste because of the wrong character instilled into us in infancy and childhood. We all remember the story in Grimm's Fairy Tales of the man who selected the girl who pared her cheese in the right way. But few of us know how to pare our cheese, to save time and material and digestion.

Modern cheese paring is something that requires organization, as well as character and intention.

Cities have to know how. Businesses have to know how. Methods of manufacture, of delivery, of crop production, all involve the elimination of waste. When an engineer invents a method of transporting electricity several hundreds of miles farther, at only half the loss, he is doing more for the "elimination of waste" than all the busy housewives, who see that the extra lights are turned out promptly.

All kinds of waste should be eliminated. We may differ about the wastes of extravagance. We ought not to differ about those of inattention and organization.

THE HERITAGE

What is it wakes the soul in me
When ocean spume of ivory
Breaks to rain upon the rocks,
Or melts to ruffles on the sand;
Is it a long forgotten love
Disguised in luring mystery?

What is it that so lifts in me
When spiral gliding gull I see
With wings that cleave the morning mist
Far from the rugged rim of land;
A something sleeping all the years
That now disturbs my memory?

And every sea shell that I find
Brings forth a cry of ecstasy
I hold their rose-lips to my ear
And hear them whisper from my hand,
"Your grandsire loved and sailed the sea,
His spirit is your legacy!"
—Regina Kaufman in the "Lariat."

I came home from school with Puds Simkins this afternoon and Mary Watkins was skating up and down the street on her roller skates, giving us a deer to put ours on too and skate with her and show her how good we could skate, and we bot' put our skates on and was starting to skate and we saw the new kid in the corner house sitting on his trunk steps putting his on, and wat kind was they but patent skates with 2 rubber tire wheels on each skate instead of 4 regular wheels, me saying, G, he must be a trick skate with those skates.

California Politics

HOOVER OR GOODCELL

Riverside Press: The Press recently indulged in a little long distance forecasting as to what may happen in California in the campaign of 1928 and 1930; and in that editorial the possibilities in the senatorial campaign two years hence were discussed. The Huntington Beach News has also given its political horoscope a whirl and the following are some of the things which it sees:

There is some speculation among the political astrologers as to what roof the lightning rod of Rex B. Goodcell will appear in the future.

As he polled more than 100,000 votes at the recent gubernatorial contest, Judge Goodcell considers that his lightning rod is still a perfectly good one, and may be used in any future contingency which might arise in the political field of the Golden State.

There appears to be but little doubt, but what Rex B. Goodcell aspires to be one of the Republican senators from California, and that he will contest for the nomination at the primary election in August, 1928, with Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

An analysis of the vote cast for the Republican candidates at the recent primary for governor indicates conclusively that Rex B. Goodcell is a powerful factor in California politics.

While it is true that Goodcell only polled about 14 per cent of the total Republican vote cast, but when the difficult circumstances under which he labored to make this showing are considered the achievement is one of the outstanding features of the primary campaign, and establishes the fact that Rex B. Goodcell is one of the big political stars on the California horizon of California today.

If Rex B. Goodcell decides to enter the arena with Senator

Johnson he will be tackling another gigantic task, but not one so hopeless as his race for the gubernatorial chair, as he would undoubtedly have the support of the party element which supported Gov. Richardson for renomination, including a majority of the newspapers in the state.

Goodcell has proven that he is one of the best campaigners in California politics, and should he decide to make the race against Senator Johnson, the campaign would probably be one of the most spectacular ever staged in California politics.

Of course, if Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in the Coolidge cabinet should decide to leave the cabinet and offer to represent California in the senate, there would be a tremendous shifting of scenery on the political stage of California, as Secretary Hoover is recognized as one of the substantial men of his generation and could probably knock down the senatorial plum with but little difficulty.

These "kind words" for Judge Goodcell are the more interesting in view of the fact that the News did not support Goodcell for governor; its support was given to C. C. Young.

The list of senatorial possibilities made by the News is not complete as Major Lineberger should undoubtedly be added; he made a showing under great handicaps that entitles him to consideration and he is not an unlikely candidate. Governor Richardson may also be a candidate.

What Senator Johnson will do is still in doubt. If he should run again and have Hoover, Goodcell, Richardson and Lineberger against him, he would win. If the opposition should center on one of those three men, Hoover, for instance, the result might be "another story."

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Walte, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

SAMUEL G. MCCLURE, PUBLISHER OF THE GLENDALE (CALIFORNIA) NEWS, SAYS:

THAT THE American Newspaper is without doubt the most remarkable community institution in American life. It would be difficult to name any other agency in modern life which, while a private enterprise conducted for profit, is at the same time an institution which is regarded by the community in which it is published as particularly belonging to them.

This applies with greater force to the smaller city or town than to the metropolis. The newspaper in such communities, if properly conducted, is the most influential and important factor in promoting community growth of the best sort. Every effort or campaign for community development depends upon the publicity which the newspaper furnishes to interest the people in it. Without this publicity it is practically impossible in modern life to secure a unity of community effort sufficient to accomplish any great undertaking for the city.

This makes the newspaper a unique institution. Primarily it must be a business enterprise if it is to endure, and yet it must consider at all times the welfare of the community from a different angle and in a broader way than any other business enterprise.

IT IS GRATIFYING TO NOTE THAT THIS SPIRIT VERY STRONGLY ANIMATES THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE NEWSPAPERS. BECAUSE IT DOES AND BECAUSE OF THE GENERAL ABSENCE OF VENALITY AMONG NEWSPAPER EDITORS THE POWER AND INFLUENCE OF THE AMERICAN PRESS IS WHAT IT IS TODAY.
